

Scioto Crests At 22 Feet, Starts To Fall

Local residents breathed easier today after the Scioto River reached a crest of 22 feet at about 10 a. m. and immediately started receding.

Although Circleville appeared to be surrounded on most sides by water, the need for evacuation remained at a minimum. Several house trailer residents on Route 104 along Darby Creek were forced to leave early this morning, but there were no reports of forced moves in the immediate city area.

Several of the house trailer residents spent the remainder of the night in the National Guard Armory on E. Franklin St. Two families were housed there for most of the night.

Enough water to cover the baseball diamond seeped into Ted Lewis Park during the night. However, homes along nearby Rosewood Ave. were not touched.

WATER IN TED LEWIS PARK — Although this section of the baseball diamond at Ted Lewis Park was under water at noon today, there appeared to be no immediate danger to nearby homes along Rosewood Ave. Water in Hargus Creek at the southern edge of the park was about three feet below its banks, indicating no water from this source would flow into the area. The Scioto River crested at 22 feet at about 10 a. m. today and was starting to fall.

PAUL DEAN, local weatherman, said the Scioto had reached a level of 21.97 feet at 9 a. m. The 22-foot crest reading was made about an hour later. By 11:30 a. m. the river had fallen to 21.85 feet.

The slow but sure decline indicated that further flood danger is not imminent in this area. However, this is not the case for points on south where crests have not been reached.

Cause for alarm was sounded late yesterday when it was feared that a section of spillway viaduct on Route 22 just west of the Scioto was weakening. Traffic was halted for a short period. But a hurried inspection disclosed that a small hump in the highway existed there prior to this week's deluge.

All schools in the city and county were open today. Wayne Twp. Elementary which had been cut off from all sides by water yesterday was able to resume classes.

State Highways remaining closed in the Circleville area today were Route 56 west from Route 22 to Route 104; Route 104 south from 22 to the Ross County line and 762 west from Route 23 to Route 104.

All other highways in the county were passable according to a spokesman from the State Highway Department.

COUNTY ROADS closed to traffic were the Sisk-Westfall Road, the Circleville - Westfall Road, the Mill Road; and the McLean-Mill Road near Fox.

Tom Elsea, N. Court St., assisted the Chillicothe Post of the Ohio State Highway Patrol in rescuing two men stranded in a tree near Yellowbud.

Elsea reported he had no idea how the pair became stranded, nor did he know their names.

Gasoline Blast Kills Housewife

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An explosion that apparently resulted from spilled gasoline has killed a Franklin County housewife and left her husband seriously burned.

Police said the blast occurred Tuesday night after Mrs. Reno Cameruca drove the family car into the garage. At the time, her husband was trying to clean up gasoline he spilled while cleaning paint brushes, officers said.

Cameruca was quoted as saying it happened when his wife stepped out of the car. Fire that followed the blast was quickly extinguished.

Police were continuing their investigation.

Flood Threats Remain High

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain-swollen rivers in southern and central Ohio started to recede slowly today as hundreds of families waited to return to their homes.

A temporary break in the heavy rains that have fallen over Ohio brought relief to the stricken areas. The Weather Bureau predicted some showers or light snow in scattered sections tonight but forecast a mild, dry day Thursday.

At least seven persons had died, either directly or indirectly, as a result of the storm. The latest victims were Walter Graham, 70, of Columbus, who suffered a fatal heart attack while attempting to move a washer in his flooded basement and Mrs. Ninian Fowler, who suffered a heart attack while moving furniture from the basement of her Pomeroy home to a higher level.

Crests well above flood stage had either been reached or were expected to be reached today in communities affected by the Ohio, Hocking and Scioto rivers. But the angry waters already had caused extensive damage and brought misery to thousands.

Red Cross and Civil Defense units had set up housing and other assistance for hundreds of families evacuated from their homes.

The Highway Patrol reported some 200 roads closed in all parts of the state, most by high water, but several by an unexpected snow storm that staggered the northwestern part of the Buckeye state Tuesday.

In Nelsonville, a leak in the water main had cut off water to Mt. St. Mary's Hospital and homes in the area.

The Weather Bureau reported that the Hocking River crested Tuesday at Enterprise in Hocking County at 21.9 feet, 10 feet above flood stage and the highest since 1907.

The Hocking was expected to crest at Athens at noon today. The forecast was for 24 feet, one foot higher than the damaging Athens flood of a year ago.

Athens, cut off by inundated highways, was among several communities that set up temporary shelters Tuesday for evacuated families.

Ohio University ordered the evacuation of at least two dormitories but had other housing available. Much of the Athens campus was inundated during the March 1963 flood.

The Weather Bureau at Port Columbus said the Scioto River should crest at 22-23 feet at noon today at Circleville. That community's flood stage is 14 feet. Predicted crest for Chillicothe was 25-26 feet (16-foot flood stage) at midnight tonight, and for Piketon was 30-30½ feet (16-foot flood stage) early Thursday.

At Logan, on the Hocking River, the sheriff's office reported the evacuation of several dozen families and said the Red Cross was providing shelter. Only one road, Ohio 93, remained open out of Logan.

Truman Sees His Statue In Greece

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson arrived in Athens today to represent the United States at the funeral Thursday of King Paul.

Driving into town Truman got his first look at the controversial statue of himself erected in tribute to the aid he sent in the late 1940s to help save Greece from communism. But the former president didn't see a "Truman out" sign scrawled on a wall at Athens University in another part of the city.

White paint was daubed on the statue last week during anti-American demonstrations over the crisis on Cyprus, but the statue had been spruced up by the time Truman saw it.

It is Truman's first visit to Greece.

There was considerable criticism in Greek cultural circles last May when the American Hellenic Educational Progressive Association - AHEPA - donated the statue.

Some claimed that the sculpture, the work of American Felix de Weldon, lacked the artistic finesse proper to the home of Phidias.

Truman himself commented that statues should be erected only to the dead.

Wisconsin Group Backs RFK for Veep

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A committee to promote the candidacy of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy for vice president was incorporated in Wisconsin Tuesday.

Papers were filed with the secretary of state by Percy Silver of Milwaukee. Silver, a Milwaukee insurance man, identified himself as chairman and the committee as: "Draft Robert F. Kennedy for Vice-President of the United States, Grass Roots, Ground Swell Committee."

Defense Rests Its Case In Ruby Murder Trial

DALLAS (AP)—The defense in Jack Ruby's murder case rested today in the first moment after the jury filed into the courtroom.

As soon as the jury of eight men and four women was seated, Judge Joe B. Brown asked chief defense counsel Melvin Belli who he was calling as his first witness today.

"The defense rests, your honor," Belli said.

This marked the end of direct testimony. Both the defense and the prosecution have lists of rebuttal witnesses. They may be called later this week, depending on what each side does in the battle over Ruby's guilt or innocence in the slaying Nov. 24 of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

The last witness for the defense was Dr. Manfred Guttmacher, Baltimore psychiatrist, who testified on the stand through most of Tuesday. His testimony, in which he gave the opinion that Ruby was not legally sane when he killed Oswald, formed the keystone of the defense case.

Science Fair Slated at CHS This Week

The fifth annual Circleville Science Fair will be held in the high school gymnasium Thursday and Friday evening.

The annual event is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club. Judging is to be conducted tomorrow evening. The fair's projects will be open to the public viewing beginning 7 p. m. Friday.

An awards program will be held 8 p. m. Friday for students receiving recognition for their entries.

Approximately 125 projects, entered by students of grades 7-12, will be on display. About 100 judges will rate the projects.

EIGHTEEN high school students and 12 junior high students with superior ratings as a result of local judging will be going to the District Science Fair slated March 28 in Columbus. They will enter competition preparatory to State Science Fair Day in May.

Students will be on hand Friday evening to explain their projects to visitors.

Parking Meters Paid for, Unused

LOVELL, Wyo. (AP)—It has been nine years since Lovell decided to put in parking meters. But none of the meters, 224 in all, has been installed.

Because businessmen feared they would drive shoppers to other towns, the parking meter ordinance passed in 1955 has been repealed. A firm which supplied the meters for $14,448 fought up to the Wyoming Supreme Court to get its money.

Mayor Cal Taggart said Tuesday the money finally has been paid.

That doesn't mean Lovell intends to put the meters up.

Auditor Sees Schools Bid For Big Fund

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Auditor Roger W. Tracy apparently will be asked to process larger state subsidies for local school districts than the State Controlling Board — of which he is a member — wants.

E. E. Holt, superintendent of public instruction, said Tuesday that he intends to certify payments to local districts calculated under the school foundation formula.

Finance Director Richard Krabach says spending estimates under the formula might run $8.5 million above legislative appropriations, and that is why the Controlling Board is against the formula payments.

The board served notice last week that it will press to keep payments within the $479 million school appropriation for the current biennium, which ends June 30, 1965.

Tracy's office hinted Tuesday that the Controlling Board might withhold approval of vouchers for local districts if the total exceeds appropriated funds.

Lodge Sweeps Prizes In New Hampshire

Lodge Crew Tells Strategy

Importer, Lawyer, Printer Turn Trick

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — In early January, amid the rising ballyhoo about the nation's first presidential primary, two Boston businessmen and a secretary drove to New Hampshire to "case the place for Henry Cabot Lodge."

Within a few days, they had rented some office space, scrounged some furniture, and appointed a campaign chairman.

"We had no financing, no organization and no candidate," says David Goldberg. "But we were in business."

Goldberg, 34, a lawyer, and his companion, Paul Grindle, 43, an importer, had helped run the Senate campaign for Lodge's son, George, who lost to Edward (Ted) Kennedy, in Massachusetts in 1962.

"We learned a few things about politics," Goldberg grins. How well they learned was demonstrated Tuesday by Lodge's write-in triumph in the New Hampshire primary.

"We had to have a sense of discipline," says Goldberg. "We had to concentrate on one or two things we could do well."

The "one or two things": a direct mail campaign with "pledge cards" for Lodge; the judicious use of a television film highlighting Lodge's career; and the mailing to every Republican voter a sample ballot to show them how to write in Lodge's name, waded through 107 delegate candidates — and pick the right ones.

The Lodge campaign chairman was J. Richard Jackman, a Concord printing firm executive who had never dabbled in politics before.

"We had never heard of him," Goldberg says. "But we talked him into assuming the chairmanship."

Did any of them think Lodge would win?

"Not one of us," laughs Jackman, who'll head the Lodge delegation to the GOP nominating convention. "I still can't believe we did it."

U.S. Asks Soviet Aid after Jet Bomber Downed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States combined an apology with a protest in asking the Soviet Union to help speed the return of an American reconnaissance bomber and its three-man crew shot down Tuesday over Communist East Germany.

The crewmen parachuted from the plane after the shooting, the Defense Department said, but their fate was not known here. The plane was described as unarmed and on a training flight.

The Air Force identified the three crewmen as Capt. David I. Holland, 35, the pilot, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Holland of Holland, Minn.; Capt. Melvin J. Kessler, 30, instructor navigator, son of Abraham Kessler of Philadelphia; and 1st Lt. Harold W. Welch, 24, navigator, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald W. Welch of Detroit.

Holland's wife lives at Toul-Rosieres Air Force Base, France, where the crew is stationed. Kessler's wife and two children reside at Toulair near the base. Welch is single.

The request for Soviet help was made urgently Tuesday night by Assistant Secretary of State William Tyler to Georgi M. Kornienko, minister counselor of the Soviet Embassy.

The State Department announced that Tyler "delivered a strong oral protest" to the Soviet diplomat against "the preposterous action" by Soviet military forces in shooting down the RB66B.

Tyler "also expressed the U.S. government's regrets that the plane became lost and inadvertently crossed the demarcation line between the Federal Republic (West Germany) and East Germany."

This was the second incident of this kind in six weeks and the wording of the U.S. protest after the Soviet destruction of a U.S. T39 jet trainer on Jan. 28 was much harsher. All three men in the trainer were killed.

At that time Tyler made no apology and denounced the Soviet Union's shooting down of the T39 as "a callous and inexcusably brutal act of violence against an unarmed aircraft."

There was no explanation here of the much softer wording of Tuesday night's statement. There was some suggestion that U.S. officials were puzzled, by the fact that the RB66B with a pilot and two navigators aboard had strayed across the dividing line.

Write-in Win Shakes GOP

Barry, Rocky Hurl Challenge

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Undeclared and absent, Henry Cabot Lodge swept all the prizes in New Hampshire's leadoff primary today with a write-in vote triumph that shuffled the Republican presidential cards.

Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, said in Saigon he will not resign his diplomatic post despite his upset victory in the year's first polling-place test of Republican sentiment.

His write-in vote rolled over hard-running Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller — and Lodge men captured all 14 New Hampshire delegate seats at the Republican National Convention.

Goldwater and Rockefeller — declared candidates who spent wintry weeks hunting votes in New Hampshire — challenged Lodge to come home and fight for the nomination.

The ambassador's answer: "I do not plan to go to the United States. I do not intend to resign."

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, another write-in contender, ranked fourth with New Hampshire Republicans.

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine and former Minnesota Gov. Harold Stassen trailed far behind.

The most optimistic backers of the top declared candidates had not anticipated a sweep of the delegates for their man.

Goldwater, claiming victory in advance, said he expected to capture seven to 10 delegates.

With all of the state's 302 precincts counted, here is the Republican tally:

Lodge 33,521
Goldwater 21,775
Rockefeller 19,496
Nixon 15,752
Smith 2,812
Stassen 1,285

Lodge had captured about 34 per cent of the Republican vote.

It added up to a New Hampshire mandate to Lodge to challenge President Johnson — his boss as ambassador — for the White House.

There were a scattered few write-in votes for G. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania and George Romney of Michigan.

Despite the snowstorm, the Republican turnout totaled some 90,000 votes. Advance forecasts had placed it at 90,000 to 100,000.

Britain Hails New Prince

Third Son Born To Queen Bess

LONDON (AP)—Britain broke out its flags and fired 41-gun salutes today to celebrate the birth of a son to Queen Elizabeth II.

Both the 37-year-old queen and the new prince — her fourth child and third son — were reported doing well. The baby was born Tuesday night at Buckingham Palace, a week earlier than expected. But "it was an easy birth," said Sir John Weir, the royal physician.

"Everything went well; there were no problems," reported the anesthetist, Dr. Vernon Hall.

The baby weighed 5 pounds, 7 ounces, making him the smallest of the queen's four children at birth.

The queen's husband, Prince Philip, went ahead with plans to represent the queen at the funeral of King Paul of Greece Thursday. The prince arranged to arrive in the Greek capital late this afternoon.

The names to be given the prince were the subject of much public speculation. The favorite was James, in tribute to Scottish Stuart ancestors of the queen. Robert, Rupert and David also were mentioned.

It was the second British royal birth this year. Princess Alexandra, the queen's first cousin, had a son on Feb. 29. Princess Margaret, the queen's sister, expects her second child next month. The Duchess of Kent, Alexandra's sister-in-law, expects her first baby in May.

The queen's husband, Prince Philip, 42, telephoned the news of his new son to Queen Mother Elizabeth, Princess Margaret and other members of the royal family.

The new prince is third in line of succession to the throne, behind his brothers, Charles 15, and Andrew, 4. He rates ahead of his sister, Anne, 13.

Sweepstakes OK'd By New Hampshire

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — The New Hampshire Sweepstakes raced to a lopsided victory in a local option referendum held Tuesday in conjunction with the presidential preference primary.

With most of the state's 302 precincts reported, the sweepstakes won approval by better than a 3-1 vote.

Tickets for the first race next Sept. 12 will be sold only at the state's three race tracks and in 49 liquor stores in 42 communities.

The state hopes to realize more than $4 million annually from the venture and will distribute the money to schools.

Dynamite Causes Nylons To Shatter

NEW YORK (AP)—Dynamite is being blamed for the embarrassing and costly disintegration of nylon stockings that has been plaguing women and girls here off and on for 10 years.

Investigators were baffled until staff members of the City Air Pollution Control Department came up with this explanation:

An inspector, hearing blasting at a building site in the financial district of downtown Manhattan, acted on a hunch. He made a test and the department believes — a major discovery.

He reported that exploded dynamite had released nitrogen oxides under conditions most conducive for shredding nylon.

There was an atmospheric inversion through which cold air above held warm air close to the ground. Humidity was high. Dist content in the air was heavy.

Barry Shrugs At His Defeat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Shrugging off his second-place rating in the New Hampshire primary, Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said today he looks forward to the next Republican presidential tests in California and Oregon.

"I had felt that Ambassador Lodge would be in second place," Goldwater said in an interview. "I had sensed his buildup and I knew he was moving."

The Lodge name is a difficult one to cope with in New Hampshire, and there were so many candidates.

"Many voters were undecided right up to the last moment."

"Apparently, a lot of them felt they could not vote for Rockefeller or me, so they voted for Lodge."

Defense Rests Its Case In Ruby Murder Trial

Belli had said previously he still has two or three witnesses. His move in resting the case came as a complete surprise.

Dist. Atty. Henry M. Wade announced he would present rebuttal testimony. Had the state also rested without rebuttal witnesses, the defense would have been blocked from bringing its own rebuttal witnesses to the stand. Then the case, except for closing arguments, would have been ready to go immediately to the jury.

Guttmacher spelled out Tuesday the core of the defense case: "An abnormal individual with an abnormal personality structure... under a very great emotional impact for two days... came upon this perpetrator of the assassination (of President Kennedy)... with the homicide resulting."

Ruby faces the electric chair on a charge of slaying Oswald. His defense is temporary insanity. Belli earlier announced Ruby would testify but indicated Tuesday he would not call him to the stand.

U.S. Asks Soviet Aid after Jet Bomber Downed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States combined an apology with a protest in asking the Soviet Union to help speed the return of an American reconnaissance bomber and its three-man crew shot down Tuesday over Communist East Germany.

The crewmen parachuted from the plane after the shooting, the Defense Department said, but their fate was not known here. The plane was described as unarmed and on a training flight.

The Air Force identified the three crewmen as Capt. David I. Holland, 35, the pilot, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Holland of Holland, Minn.; Capt. Melvin J. Kessler, 30, instructor navigator, son of Abraham Kessler of Philadelphia; and 1st Lt. Harold W. Welch, 24, navigator, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald W. Welch of Detroit.

Holland's wife lives at Toul-Rosieres Air Force Base, France, where the crew is stationed. Kessler's wife and two children reside at Toulouse near the base. Welch is single.

The request for Soviet help was made urgently Tuesday night by Assistant Secretary of State William Tyler to Georgi M. Kornienko, minister counselor of the Soviet Embassy.

The State Department announced that Tyler "delivered a strong oral protest" to the Soviet diplomat against "the precipitous action" by Soviet military forces in shooting down the RB66B.

Tyler "also expressed the U.S. government's regrets that the plane became lost and inadvertently crossed the demarcation line between the Federal Republic (West Germany) and East Germany."

This was the second incident of this kind in six weeks and the wording of the U.S. protest after the Soviet destruction of a U.S. T39 jet trainer on Jan. 28 was much harsher. All three men in the trainer were killed.

At that time Tyler made no apology and denounced the Soviet Union's shooting down of the T39 as "a callous and inexcusably brutal act of violence against an unarmed aircraft."

There was no explanation here of the much softer wording of Tuesday night's statement. There was some suggestion that U.S. officials were puzzled, by the fact that the RB66B with a pilot and two navigators aboard had strayed across the dividing line.

Sweepstakes OK'd By New Hampshire

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — The New Hampshire Sweepstakes raced to a lopsided victory in a local option referendum held Tuesday in conjunction with the presidential preference primary.

With most of the state's 302 precincts reported, the sweepstakes won approval by better than a 3-1 vote.

Tickets for the first race next Sept. 12 will be sold only at the state's three race tracks and in 49 liquor stores in 42 communities.

The state hopes to realize more than $4 million annually from the venture and will distribute the money to schools.

Dynamite Causes Nylons To Shatter

NEW YORK (AP)—Dynamite is being blamed for the embarrassing and costly disintegration of nylon stockings that has been plaguing women and girls here off and on for 10 years.

Investigators were baffled until staff members of the City Air Pollution Control Department came up with this explanation:

An inspector, hearing blasting at a building site in the financial district of downtown Manhattan, acted on a hunch. He made a test and the department believes—a major discovery.

He reported that exploded dynamite had released nitrogen oxides under conditions most conducive for shredding nylon.

There was an atmospheric inversion through which cold air above held warm air close to the ground. Humidity was high. Dust content in the air was heavy.

Before takeoff, the Air Force told The Associated Press here, "emergency procedures near the border were reviewed and crews advised that, if there was any disorientation near the border, to immediately take up a westerly heading" away from the Communist area.

Britain Hails New Prince

Third Son Born To Queen Bess

LONDON (AP)—Britain broke out its flags and fired 41-gun salutes today to celebrate the birth of a son to Queen Elizabeth II.

Both the 37-year-old queen and the new prince—her fourth child and third son—were reported doing well. The baby was born Tuesday night at Buckingham Palace, a week earlier than expected. But "it was an easy birth," said Sir John Weir, the royal physician.

"Everything went well; there were no problems," reported the anesthetist, Dr. Vernon Hall.

The baby weighed 5 pounds, 7 ounces, making him the smallest of the queen's four children at birth.

The queen's husband, Prince Philip, went ahead with plans to represent the queen at the funeral of King Paul of Greece Thursday. The prince arranged to arrive in the Greek capital late this afternoon.

The names to be given the prince were the subject of much public speculation. The favorite was James, in tribute to Scottish Stuart ancestors of the queen. Robert, Rupert and David also were mentioned.

It was the second British royal birth this year. Princess Alexandra, the queen's first cousin, had a son on Feb. 29. Princess Margaret, the queen's sister, expects her second child next month. The Duchess of Kent, Alexandra's sister-in-law, expects her first baby in May.

The queen's husband, Prince Philip, 42, telephoned the news of his new son to Queen Mother Elizabeth, Princess Margaret and other members of the royal family.

The new prince is third in line of succession to the throne, behind his brothers, Charles 15, and Andrew, 4. He rates ahead of his sister, Anne, 13.

Write-in Win Shakes GOP

Barry, Rocky Hurl Challenge

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Undeclared and absent, Henry Cabot Lodge swept all the prizes in New Hampshire's leadoff primary today with a write-in vote triumph that shuffled the Republican presidential cards.

Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, said in Saigon he will not resign his diplomatic post despite his upset victory in the year's first polling-place test of Republican sentiment.

His write-in vote rolled over hard-running Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller—and Lodge men captured all 14 New Hampshire delegate seats at the Republican National Convention.

Goldwater and Rockefeller—declared candidates who spent wintry weeks hunting votes in New Hampshire — challenged Lodge to come home and fight for the nomination.

The ambassador's answer: "I do not plan to go to the United States. I do not intend to resign."

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, another write-in contender, ranked fourth with New Hampshire Republicans. Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine and former Minnesota Gov. Harold Stassen trailed far behind.

The most optimistic backers of the top declared candidates had not anticipated a sweep of the delegates for their man.

Goldwater, claiming victory in advance, said he expected to capture seven to 10 delegates.

With all of the state's 302 precincts counted, here is the Republican tally: Lodge 33,521; Goldwater 21,775; Rockefeller 19,496; Nixon 15,752; Smith 2,812; Stassen 1,285.

Lodge had captured about 34 per cent of the Republican vote.

It added up to a New Hampshire mandate to Lodge to challenge President Johnson—his boss as ambassador—for the White House.

There were a scattered few write-in votes for G. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania and George Romney of Michigan.

Despite the snowstorm, the Republican turnout totaled some 90,000 votes. Advance forecasts had placed it at 90,000 to 100,000.

Barry Shrugs At His Defeat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Shrugging off his second-place rating in the New Hampshire primary, Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said today he looks forward to the next Republican presidential tests in California and Oregon.

"I had felt that Ambassador Lodge would be in second place," Goldwater said in an interview. "I had sensed his buildup and I knew he was moving."

"The Lodge name is a difficult one to cope with in New Hampshire, and there were so many candidates."

"Apparently, a lot of them felt they could not vote for Rockefeller or me, so they voted for Lodge."

Westfall Board Announces Plans To Close Atlanta

The Westfall School District Board of Education has passed a resolution calling for the closing of Atlanta School at the end of the current year, it was announced today by Jud Lanman, executive head.

Lanman said the decision was prompted by a need to save money in the district.

The school board's reasons for reaching the decision will be explained at a public hearing, scheduled for 8 p. m. Mar. 18 at Jackson Twp. School. All interested persons are urged to attend.

The Westfall centers remaining for the 1964-65 school year are: Williamsport School, grades one through six inclusive; Jackson School, grades one through eight inclusive; Monroe School, grades one through eight inclusive and Darby School, grades one through six inclusive.

UNDER THE plan, students in grades one through six in the Atlanta-Williamsport area will attend Williamsport School. Grades seven and eight from the same area will attend Jackson School.

In the Jackson area, all students in grades one through eight including those living in Darbyville and those living east of Darby Creek in Muhlenberg Township will attend Jackson School.

In the Monroe area, all students in grades one through eight, including a few who live West of Darby Creek in Muhlenberg Township, will attend Monroe School.

In the Darby area, students in grades one through six will attend Darby School while the seventh and eighth graders will go to Monroe.

The plan was adopted following a great deal of study, Lanman pointed out. "It is the feeling of the board the plan will save money, give the students of the district the best possible education and make proper use of available facilities," the Westfall head stated.

A plan of dual bus routing beginning in September 1964 was also adopted by the board. Under this program a bus would pick up only grades seven to twelve, while grades one to six would be picked up at a later time. The idea permits a longer school day for the upper grades.

Write-in Win

staged a write-in drive of their own, in what Gov. John W. King called "an expression and recommendation" that Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy become the party's nominee for vice president.

Its leaders had some last-minute qualms, fearing a Kennedy write-in that topped that for President Johnson would embarrass the President.

The outcome quieted those fears. The figures read this way:

Johnson 21,898
Kennedy 17,683
Rockefeller scooped at Lodge as "a favorite son from New England" and Goldwater called him an ineffectual campaigner. But the Arizona senator confessed "I must have goofed somewhere" in the New Hampshire campaign.

The New York governor tempered his reaction with compliments to New Hampshire for "the victory of moderation."

"I think the voters of New Hampshire have rejected extremism," the governor said.

He called on would-be candidates to "come on in and take their positions on the issues and join the debate."

Goldwater accused Lodge of "staying out of the country to avoid having to say anything."

Through his son, George, Lodge relayed his thanks to New Hampshire voters—but gave them no hint of his plans.

"They have paid me the highest of compliments and I shall very carefully consider their action and all its meaning," he said.

The younger Lodge added this forecast: "If my father is called on by his party in convention there isn't any question that he will accept gratefully and humbly and enthusiastically."

But George Lodge—who ran unsuccessfully for the Senate from Massachusetts two years ago against Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.—said "I really don't know" whether or when Lodge will quit his diplomatic post and plunge formally into the race for the nomination.

"He takes his responsibility in Viet Nam very seriously," Lodge said. "It would depend on what happens in Viet Nam and what happens here. He has to measure his duties."

Lodge added he expects the New Hampshire showing will "greatly strengthen efforts in 28 other states to draft my father."

The ambassador's name will be on the ballot in Oregon's May 15 presidential primary. That does not take a candidate's approval, and the withdrawal deadline passed Monday.

Lodge had a hand 12 years ago in the victory of another undeclared candidate over another New Hampshire campaigner. That propelled former President Dwight D. Eisenhower into the race for the 1952 nomination. He beat the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio in New Hampshire.

Board Airs Permit Request, State Foundation Program

A local couple appeared before the Circleville Board of Education last night concerning recent objections voiced by the board on an application filed for a carry-out license near Walnut St. School.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Stumbo, seeking the carry-out permit, told the board they filed for the license "for use at such a time when Walnut St. School would no longer be used for educational purposes."

The Stumbos said they applied for the permit in hopes that the proposed school bond issue would be passed. This, in effect, would eliminate the old building from the district's educational units.

Meeting in regular session with Superintendent Fritz Jacobs, the board approved a resolution calling for submission of letters to the State Legislature and governor concerning state-derived school money.

IN GENERAL, the local correspondence will be based on reports indicating the State Controlling Board's intentions of denying certified funds to school districts participating in the School Foundation Program.

The letters will request a special session of the Legislature be called to appropriate funds already certified for 1964-65 if the Controlling Board makes the denial.

The letter was ordered written here as the result of correspondence received from the Ohio School Board's Assn. indicating that all school boards should be concerned over the possibility of state aid being cut from the School Foundation Program.

A demonstration of overhead projectors led to the purchase of two of the units for use in the audio - visual department.

Also purchased with board approval was electronic engine testing equipment to be utilized in the school's automobiles program.

The school calendar for 1964-65 was discussed and adopted. The new calendar lists the opening day of school as Sept. 8, following the Labor Day holiday.

A summer school program was discussed and approved. Richard Snouffer, CHS principal, was appointed to co-ordinate registration and establish the program. Courses available will be determined by enrollment in each subject.

A report regarding the recent visit of Mrs. Mary Waddell, lunch program supervisor, was presented to the board by Jacobs. All comments made by the State Department representative were generally complimentary.

IN OTHER action, approval was granted Youth Baseball

New Scioto Youth Camp Is Planned

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 50-boy youth camp in Scioto County is being planned by the Ohio Youth Commission.

Chairman Wayne Fogle reported today that his group is looking over a possible site on state land near Shawnee Forest.

Fogle said it would be a one or two unit camp to be established pending decision on plans to build a new 200-bed industrial school for boys in northeastern Ohio. He discussed the plan with the Youth Advisory Commission which met at the Girls Industrial School near Delaware Tuesday.

Fogle said the advisory group left decisions on the camps and new school, aimed at relieving crowded conditions at the Boy's Industrial School in Lancaster, up to the commission. He added that a decision on the camps and new school must await a conference with Gov. James A. Rhodes.

"We can have the camps ready in a short time and that will help," said Fogle, pointing out that Boys Industrial School now has more than 1,070 boys.

The commission now has three boys' camps, in Zaleski and Mohican State Parks and the H. F. Christiansen Camp at the Ohio State Fairgrounds.

Write-in Win

staged a write-in drive of their own, in what Gov. John W. King called "an expression and recommendation" that Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy become the party's nominee for vice president.

Its leaders had some last-minute qualms, fearing a Kennedy write-in that topped that for President Johnson would embarrass the President.

The outcome quieted those fears. The figures read this way:

Johnson 21,898
Kennedy 17,683

Rocketfeller scoffed at Lodge as "a favorite son from New England" and Goldwater called him an ineffectual campaigner.

But the Arizona senator confessed "I must have goofed somewhere" in the New Hampshire campaign.

The New York governor tempered his reaction with compliments to New Hampshire for "the victory of moderation."

"I think the voters of New Hampshire have rejected extremism," the governor said.

He called on would-be candidates to "come on in and take their positions on the issues and join the debate."

Goldwater accused Lodge of "staying out of the country to avoid having to say anything."

Through his son, George, Lodge relayed his thanks to New Hampshire voters—but gave them no hint of his plans.

"They have paid me the highest of compliments and I shall very carefully consider their action and all its meaning," he said.

The younger Lodge added this forecast: "If my father is called on by his party in convention there isn't any question that he will accept gratefully and humbly and enthusiastically."

But George Lodge—who ran unsuccessfully for the Senate from Massachusetts two years ago against Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.—said "I really don't know" whether or when Lodge will quit his diplomatic post and plunge formally into the race for the nomination.

"He takes his responsibility in Viet Nam very seriously," Lodge said. "It would depend on what happens in Viet Nam and what happens here. He has to measure his duties."

Lodge added he expects the New Hampshire showing will "greatly strengthen efforts in 28 other states to draft my father."

The ambassador's name will be on the ballot in Oregon's May 15 presidential primary. That does not take a candidate's approval, and the withdrawal deadline passed Monday.

Lodge had a hand 12 years ago in the victory of another undeclared candidate over another New Hampshire campaigner. That propelled former President Dwight D. Eisenhower into the race for the 1952 nomination. He beat the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio in New Hampshire.

Board Airls Permit Request, State Foundation Program

A local couple appeared before the Circleville Board of Education last night concerning recent objections voiced by the board on an application filed for a carry-out license near Walnut St. School.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Stumbo, seeking the carry-out permit, told the board they filed for the license "for use at such a time when Walnut St. School would no longer be used for educational purposes."

The Stumbos said they applied for the permit in hopes that the proposed school bond issue would be passed. This, in effect, would eliminate the old building from the district's educational units.

Meeting in regular session with Superintendent Fritz Jacobs, the board approved a resolution calling for submission of letters to the State Legislature and governor concerning state-derived school money.

IN GENERAL, the local correspondence will be based on reports indicating the State Controlling Board's intentions of denying certified funds to school districts participating in the School Foundation Program. The letters will request a special session of the Legislature be called to appropriate funds already certified for 1964-65 if the Controlling Board makes the denial.

The letter was ordered written here as the result of correspondence received from the Ohio School Board's Assn. indicating that all school boards should be concerned over the possibility of state aid being cut from the School Foundation Program.

A demonstration of overhead projectors led to the purchase of two of the units for use in the audio-visual department. Also purchased with board approval was electronic engine testing equipment to be utilized in the school's automobiles program.

The school calendar for 1964-65 was discussed and adopted. The new calendar lists the opening day of school as Sept. 8, following the Labor Day holiday.

A summer school program was discussed and approved. Richard Snouffer, CHS principal, was appointed to co-ordinate registration and establish the program. Courses available will be determined by enrollment in each subject.

A report regarding the recent visit of Mrs. Mary Waddell, lunch program supervisor, was presented to the board by Jacobs. All comments made by the State Department representative were generally complimentary.

IN OTHER action, approval was granted Youth Baseball

Harsha Speaks

Solon Again Blasts Hike For Congress

Congressman William H. Harsha of Ohio's Sixth District leveled another blast yesterday at the proposed congressional pay hike. In a scalding speech, he labeled the effort to increase congressional salaries by $10,000 sheer hypocrisy.

Harsha said: "We heard many pious speeches about cutting expenditures when the tax cut was passed. The American people were promised federal spending would be pared to the bone, and that we were going to practice economy for a change. To turn around and increase congressional salaries by 44 percent is not only breaking faith with the American taxpayer, but is nothing short of hypocrisy."

"I fail to comprehend the philosophy of Congress in advocating economy and tax reduction and encouraging labor and industry to hold the line on wages and prices, on the one hand, then with the other, raise the salaries of elected and appointed federal officials by such an excessive amount."

"To say the least, this represents a breach of faith with those upon whom we look for support. This is an unwarranted increase and certainly represents fiscal irresponsibility at its worst," the lawmaker continued.

"The average American wage-earner has an annual income of $5,000, and to increase the salary of members of Congress by twice the annual average income of these taxpayers is an unconscionable act under existing circumstances, which I shall oppose," the congressman stated.

Harsha concluded, "I shall offer an amendment to strike salary increases for members of Congress, the executive branch and the judiciary."

Spending Our Own Dollars

By John Chamberlain

SARASOTA, FLA.—The fruits of the impulses generated by the old-time entrepreneurs, often mislabeled the robber barons, live on to delight Americans born to our own stifled time.

Just back of the motel-strewn Route 41 in Sarasota, for example, one stumbles upon a little jewel of a theater, the Asolo, where the Turnau Opera Players have been presenting exquisitely staged Mozart, Verdi, and Rossini operas and Benjamin Britten's modern "Rape of Lucretia" to charmed audiences. The Asolo, an eighteenth century Italian playhouse was assembled from parts made available by an Italian antique dealer and bought piece by piece in crates to the Florida west coast, where it has been housed after many vicissitudes inside a permanent shell.

The State of Florida assisted in giving the Asolo its new setting, but it wouldn't be here in Sarasota if John Ringling, of the circus magnate, hadn't made a lot of money in a low-tax era and married a woman with a passion for all things Venetian. Mrs. Mable Ringling wanted to live in a mansion modeled on Stanford White's original Madison Square Garden in New York and the Doge's Palace in Venice, and she had the money to get her wish. Her fabulous house, along with a Ringling Circus Museum and the John and Mable Ringling Museum of Art, was eventually willed to the people of Florida — and the little Asolo Theatre, set up on the old Ringling property, completes the ensemble here on Sarasota Bay.

So this is what came out of a fortune made from exhibiting lions and elephants and selling pink lemonade all over America. And who, in our land, is worse off because Mr. Ringling was permitted to treat his income as his own? The money flowed into the circus coffers and through Mrs. Mable Ringling's fingers into the pockets of landscape gardeners, nursery proprietors, architects, stone masons, carpenters, importers, art dealers, shipping companies, insurance salesmen, real estate dealers, painters, decorators and heaven knows who else. Wouldn't you call this better than a WPA project? I would, particularly when it is considered that the Ringling Museums in Sarasota still give employment and pleasure to hundreds.

NEW YORK (AP)—The nation is in the mood to step up activities all along the line from spending to expanding. We have charged that the economy has been lagging behind its potentials, there are others who are stressing the need to guard against the perils which this boom psychology may heighten. The perils they see:

—Wage demands could increase production costs enough to water down, perhaps nullify, the benefits from the cut in federal income tax rates. Union leaders say there is plenty of room for higher wages without higher prices, and that increased purchasing power would add to the gains from the tax cut. Many important labor contracts are to be negotiated this year.

—Over-spending, first by consumers and then by business firms, as a result of the tax cut and the accompanying boom psychology could overheat the economy. All would like to see more economic growth than in recent years. But a quick boom, based on the tax cut, might lead to a bust next year, unless new stimulants are found and applied.

—Inflation could be the first fruit of over-spending that increased the demand for goods and a big boost in wages that increased the cost of producing goods. Remote as inflation seems now, with plenty of production capacity and an oversupply of idle workers, those who fear it might come if the boom psychology is promoted, point to Europe. Its prosperity spurt has brought on troublesome inflation in several countries. England, overheated by a tax cut, has had to raise interest rates to try to curb the boom.

—Unemployment offers problems that an anticipated boom might do little to solve. The growth in the labor force is at the wrong ends of the labor force. Unemployment is fed by a growing number of teen-agers many of them school drop-outs, who are untrained for available jobs. At the other end of the scale are older persons who are being dropped by industry because their skills are outdated or because machines are replacing them. Neither set of unemployed fits any better into the anticipated boom economy than into the present more moderate one.

—Automation is likely to be fostered, if anything, by the tax cut which gives corporations more funds to invest in machinery, and by any boom psychology that would lead companies to borrow to update their plants and make them more competitive. Present loss of jobs to machines each year is put by some at two million.

—Profit squeeze might be intensified by all of the other perils. Despite record earnings last year, many companies hold that profit margins haven't kept pace with increased output and sales. They say competition is holding down prices to the point that companies don't make enough to attract new investments to finance the growth they might expect. But boom psychology usually attracts still more competitors into any field. And if wages go up, increased sales won't spell higher profit margins. Still worse, if inflation finally results, the benefits of any rise in the dollar volume of sales and earnings is erased, since the profit dollar buys less.

All of these points are advanced by some business and financial economists as warnings. And even these worry-type experts agree that right now things look pretty good and that the nation as a whole seems to expect times to get even better.

Will you please, please write about the condition of leukoplakia? For six years I have been terrified because a dental surgeon said it was pre-cancerous and that I should watch it. I have watched it with terror in my heart. It does not change. I feel well, but I have never ceased being aware that my life is always threatened.

What is leukoplakia? What does "pre-cancerous" mean? Mrs. S.O.A., Massachusetts

Dear Mrs. A.: Unfortunately a deep-seated fear has been instilled in you unnecessarily. For many years, leukoplakia, meaning white patches, has been called precancerous without real consideration of the emotional impact of this ominous prophecy.

Since cancer can develop in all tissues, any part of the body can essentially be regarded as "pre-cancerous." Yet it would be distinctly unfair, for instance, to be ordered to "watch" a perfectly normal liver for the development of a non-existent or unlikely malignancy.

Leukoplakia are painless milky white patches that frequently appear on the tongue or the inner lining of the cheek. The common causes are said to be poor mouth and teeth hygiene, badly-fitting dentures or sharp-edged teeth. Chronic irritation caused by hot smoke, especially among pipe smokers, may also be a factor in this condition.

Unquestionably, all obvious causes of leukoplakia should be removed. Chronic sources of irritation should be eliminated—not because of the potential hazard that leukoplakia is "pre-cancerous," but simply as a sensible health measure.

Like all changes from the normal in any part of the body, leukoplakia should be checked at regular intervals by a physician. This routine observation, however, is distinctly different from the frightening instructions for a patient to "watch" for the possible development of cancer. Many lives have been unnecessarily filled with fear by a casual admonition which serves only to create and intensify anxiety, rather than to assuage it.

Could you tell me what weeping eczema is and what it comes from? I have it on my hands. Could it come from something I am eating?

Mrs. E. P., Illinois

Dear Mrs. P.: Contact dermatitis (inflammation of the skin) is frequently referred to as "weeping eczema."

Almost invariably this is an allergic reaction of the skin to some substance that the individual is exposed to. Skin that is particularly sensitive reacts to the irritating material by redness, blistering and oozing.

Rarely is such local eczema caused by something in the diet. Dyes, lotions, nail polish, cosmetics, sprays and some fabrics are often the culprits.

It takes great detective ingenuity to find the offending irritant, but with persistence and by elimination, the cause can usually be discovered. The use of cortisone ointment under the specific direction of a doctor is often beneficial during the investigative period.

Remarks To Irk TV Repairman

NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks a television repairman gets tired of hearing:

"I'm not saying your repair bill is too high, Alvin—just that it is twice what we paid for our set originally."

"Give him a bottle of beer and a sandwich; then maybe he'll be more reasonable."

"What, you here again, Alvin? I think we ought either to adopt you or start charging you rent."

"Give him a tip! Are you crazy? I think we ought to haul him into court and sue him."

"The only difference between him and Jesse James is that Jesse never usually held up a man in his own house."

"It's a phone call for you, Alvin. Your wife wants you to stop off at the grocery store on the way home and have your chauffeur run in and get an extra jar of black caviar."

"No, I don't think Alvin learned electrical wiring from a correspondence school. I think he studied it by Braille."

"One thing you have to admit about Alvin. Even if he can't fix the set, he always leaves it with a more interesting tweed pattern on the screen."

"What are you putting all your overtime dough in these days, Alvin—the stock market, or apartment buildings?"

"Are you sure that's all it needs is new batteries? After all, it isn't a battery set."

"I hear that Alvin took up television repairing after he flunked out of barber's college."

"Sorry you had to come such a long way through all this snow and rain, Alvin, but I guess we don't need you now. After we phoned you, my wife kicked the television set—and now it's working fine."

Spending Our Own Dollars

By John Chamberlain

SARASOTA, FLA.—The fruits of the impulses generated by the old-time enterprisers, often mislabeled the robber barons, live on to delight Americans born to our own stifled time.

Just back of the motel-strewn Route 41 in Sarasota, for example, one stumbles upon a little jewel of a theater, the Asolo, where the Turnau Opera Players have been presenting exquisitely staged Mozart, Verdi, and Rossini operas and Benjamin Britten's modern "Rape of Lucretia" to charmed audiences. The Asolo, an eighteenth century Italian playhouse was assembled from parts made available by an Italian antique dealer and bought piece by piece in crates to the Florida west coast, where it has been housed after many vicissitudes inside a permanent shell.

The State of Florida assisted in giving the Asolo its new setting, but it wouldn't be here in Sarasota if John Ringling, of the circus magnate, hadn't made a lot of money in a low-tax era and married a woman with a passion for all things Venetian. Mrs. Mable Ringling wanted to live in a mansion modeled on Stanford White's original Madison Square Garden in New York and the Doge's Palace in Venice, and she had the money to get her wish. Her fabulous house, along with a Ringling Circus Museum and the John and Mable Ringling Museum of Art, was eventually willed to the people of Florida — and the little Asolo Theatre, set up on the old Ringling property, completes the ensemble here on Sarasota Bay.

So this is what came out of a fortune made from exhibiting lions and elephants and selling pink lemonade all over America. And who, in our land, is worse off because Mr. Ringling was permitted to treat his income as his own? The money flowed into the circus coffers and through Mrs. Mable Ringling's fingers into the pockets of landscape gardeners, nursery proprietors, architects, stone masons, carpenters, importers, art dealers, shipping companies, insurance salesmen, real estate dealers, painters, decorators and heaven knows who else. Wouldn't you call this better than a WPA project? I would, particularly when it is considered that the Ringling Museums in Sarasota still give employment and pleasure to hundreds.

It is still possible to make a big fortune in America by one capital gains route or another, but money made in this manner tends to remain in corporate forms until the time comes for setting up a foundation to deal out tax-exempt grants. The foundations serve many laudable purposes, but the stamp of the personal and the idiosyncratic is seldom upon their benefactions. Their choices frequently reflect hours of impeccable but uninspired paper work.

The Ford Foundation, for instance, gave away a lot of money recently to support the American dance. Some worthy companies and schools were showered with funds running into the millions, but they all happened to be in the classical European tradition of ballet. Moreover, they were not precisely poverty stricken when the eyes of the Ford Foundation's advisers hit upon them. The worthy indigenous American dance got nothing. And it is the indigenous companies — the Martha Graham Dance Company, the Jose Limon Company, the Tamiris-Nagrin Company, etc. — that are really struggling.

The effect of our tax laws in a high-tax era is to channel money into forms approved by cautious people who are paid to be safe. The daring and the original are often overlooked. If a rich widow wishes to support a single struggling artist, she cannot take it off her taxes. But if her benefaction is channeled through a foundation to support a large public institution, that is another story.

The tax cut that has just been passed, which at least makes a move toward recognizing that a man's income is his own, is hardly sufficient to permit the John and Mable Ringlings of the future to indulge a taste for the fabulous and then to give it all away. But maybe we are on the threshold of a change in our thinking. The individually spent dollar gives just as much employment as the publicly spent dollar — and the product that it buys or supports is apt to be more interesting and more vital.

Many lives have been unnecessarily filled with fear by a casual admonition which serves only to create and intensify anxiety, rather than to assuage it.

Could you tell me what weeping eczema is and what it comes from? I have it on my hands. Could it come from something I am eating?

Mrs. E. P., Illinois

Dear Mrs. P.: Contact dermatitis (inflammation of the skin) is frequently referred to as "weeping eczema."

Almost invariably this is an allergic reaction of the skin to some substance that the individual is exposed to. Skin that is particularly sensitive reacts to the irritating material by redness, blistering and oozing.

Rarely is such local eczema caused by something in the diet. Dyes, lotions, nail polish, cosmetics, sprays and some fabrics are often the culprits.

It takes great detective ingenuity to find the offending irritant, but with persistence and by elimination, the cause can usually be discovered. The use of cortisone ointment under the specific direction of a doctor is often beneficial during the investigative period.

Ohio River ...

Paint Creek in Ross County, one of the smaller streams that caused major flooding Tuesday, was among streams that were receding. Alum Creek in the Columbus area also was falling.

The Portsmouth area had only two roads still open, U.S. 23 north to Columbus and U.S. 52 east to Huntington, W. Va., the sheriff's office said.

At Columbus, the Highway Patrol reported dozens of highways closed in central and southern counties but said many of them are secondary routes.

In Northwest Ohio, which escaped the heavy rain, residents were digging out from a heavy snow fall that disrupted travel and communications.

The snow caused several traffic tieups, including one on U.S. 30 near the Indiana line where snow and heavy sleet made the route virtually impassable.

The last storm - connected death reported was that of Terry Lee Blackburn, 9-year-old Jefferson County boy who fell into the flooded Cross Creek near Steubenville.

The Ohio River should begin cresting at various points along its stretches today, although crests may not be reached until Saturday far downstream.

Thousands of persons have been forced from their homes in Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky, and the high waters have been blamed for at least five deaths in Ohio.

Refugees were being cared for in emergency Red Cross shelters set up in the inundated river towns and by relatives.

The Weather Bureau said the river at Cincinnati should crest at 66½ feet at noon Thursday, which would make it the fourth highest in history and the highest since 1945.

It was at 65.3 feet late Tuesday night, meaning that it will rise only 1.2 more feet if the Weather Bureau's crest prediction holds.

The heavy rains which sent the Ohio and its tributaries plunging over their banks began over the weekend and ended Tuesday.

Columbusite, Former Boy Friend Are Slain

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Carolyn Jones, 29, of Columbus and her former boy friend died Tuesday night in what city police said was a murder and suicide.

The Jones woman was shot in the head two times after a quarrel at her home with Wallace Lindsay, 40. Officers later spotted Lindsay's car at the home of his former wife. As they approached, they heard a shot. Lindsay's body was found inside the home. They said he died of a self-inflicted head wound.

13 Cars Are Derailed

EATON, Ohio (AP)—Thirteen cars of a Pennsylvania Railroad freight train were derailed Tuesday night in an accident at Camden, nine miles south of here. No injuries were reported and authorities made no damage estimate immediately.

main streets in small cities and towns from Portsmouth, Ohio, to Louisville, Ky. Hundreds of homes were under water and only the rooftops could be seen.

Damage was running into the millions of dollars as entire business sections in riverfront towns and those in towns along streams which feed into the Ohio were inundated.

The $62 million Markland dam at Markland, Ind., was stopping traffic on the Ohio. "When the river reached close to 60 feet at Cincinnati," said a deputy U.S. engineer, "the water was over the locks and we could operate them no longer."

At Evansville, Ind., the Red Cross said it was caring for about 120 families, but the total may reach 500 before the river is expected to crest there Saturday.

The Weather Bureau said there are no changes in predicted Ohio River crests between Pittsburgh and Wheeling, W. Va. at Pittsburgh, where flood stage is 25 feet, the river Tuesday night was 30.9 feet and was expected to crest at 32 feet early today. The river was over the 40-foot mark at Wheeling and was expected to crest at 46 feet this afternoon.

Louisville and other towns and cities in Kentucky experienced their worst floods in history. Only a few of the 2,800 residents at Falmouth, Ky., remained in their homes as the Licking River crested Tuesday at 47.1, making it the highest flood crest in Falmouth's history, where flood stage is 28 feet.

Dayton and Ludlow, Ky., were other hard hit Ohio River communities. Four hundred homes had been evacuated along Dayton's two-mile waterfront and the yellow floodwaters chased 200 Ludlow families from their homes.

Shepherdsville, 20 miles south of Louisville on the Salt River, was isolated as seven feet of water covered the business district.

In Indiana, waters reached the top of some house roofs in the southern portion of the state as the Ohio threatened its worst flood in the state since 1945.

In Utica, a village of 300 persons, only the chimney of one house could be seen above the swirling waters.

Residents in Southern Illinois kept a wary eye on rivers as the water moved to the doorsteps of some homes. Roads were closed in four counties by water and families began moving out.

The Wabash River rose five feet overnight.

Three-hundred persons were driven from their homes in Poplar Bluff, Mo., after an 8-inch rain overflowed rivers. National Guardsmen worked through the night reinforcing levees with sandbags.

Major flood conditions prevailed in several central and western Pennsylvania cities and communities.

Some parts of Renovo, Pa., were under 4 feet of water. The Allegheny flooded from Warren to Pittsburgh. Pittsburgh also was plagued by the Ohio, which rose to 31.6 feet, 6.6 feet over flood stage and serious conditions prevailed into Wheeling, W. Va.

115 Postal Jobs Due To Be Eliminated

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A total of 115 postal jobs will be eliminated in Missouri, Arkansas and Iowa, the regional director of the U.S. Post Office, John F. Dee, said Tuesday at St. Louis.

Dee said the job cut was part of a federal economy move. The regional post office director said a data processing center in St. Louis would be consolidated with centers at Cincinnati, Ohio, and Memphis, Tenn. The consolidation, Dee said, is expected to save the Post Office $4 million annually.

Deputy Poses as Nun, Helps Capture of Bandits

MARYKNOLL, N.Y. (AP) — Disguised as a Catholic nun, Frances Anderson, a deputy sheriff, waited alone in the Maryknoll Seminary's post office for the holdup gang.

"I was nervous," said Mrs. Anderson, mother of two. "I never had to do anything like this before."

Her role was to convince the bandits that everything was normal at the tranquil Roman Catholic seminary. Hidden elsewhere in the post office, in the building across the drive and around the wooded landscape were more than three dozen policemen.

"I was sorting mail," Mrs. Anderson said, "when a voice said, 'Would someone help me?' He wanted a sheet of 6-cent stamps and I had to go to the safe for them. When I came back, there was a gun pointing at me."

"Don't be frightened, sister," the gunman said. "Just stand still and nobody will get hurt."

A second man went through the safe and three cash drawers. The first asked, "Where are the other sisters?"

"They're attending a special Mass," Mrs. Anderson told them.

The men ordered her into a rest room. "I soon heard the sound of the bullhorn, then shots and I fell to the floor and stayed there until it was over," she said.

The police, staked out after a tip in New York City that the holdup was planned, had sprung the trap.

You're Never Too Old

OPATJIA, Yugoslavia (AP)—An octogenarian composer here has turned from classical music to rock 'n' roll. Eva Kreutzer, 84 and one of Yugoslavia's oldest composers, has spent most of her 50-year career working on classical pieces. In recent years however she has begun writing popular tunes, and critics say her pieces sound younger in spirit than those written by people half her age.

Three men, all wounded, were captured. Five guns were found in the bullet-riddled car.

A fourth man, apparently the lookout, slipped around the back of the post office during the fight and escaped into the woods near Ossining, 25 miles north of New York City. Police said he also may have been injured.

Mrs. Walters Presents 'Life in the Manse'

The Monday Club met in regular session in the trustees room at Memorial Hall. Mrs. David Fullen, president, presided over the business meeting. An invitation from the Circleville Art League was extended to attend their Guest Night meeting 8 p. m. Mar. 16 at Prairie Lanes meeting room. It was announced that the next meeting will be the annual social session.

Mrs. Henry Walters provided the program for the evening with the topic "Hearts and Souls." She spoke of the coincidence of time and topic in the original date, for she met her husband at a Valentine's Party.

Mrs. Walters talked on "Life in the Manse as We Know It" in an original and informal presentation of the experiences of a ministerial life. She began by saying that even though the Manse is Presbyterian, surely in the rectory, parsonage, and rabbi's home incidents have happened similar to those she has encountered.

Her life in the Manse began in Wisconsin in a small town, small church, small salary. They were treated very kindly by these folk who were mostly Holland people.

She continued her talk by recalling various episodes in their lives since the days of Wisconsin. Some, of course, had their humorous side while other occasions dealt with grave and important matters.

She stated one of the most pressing problems is how to be used to the best advantage under the given circumstances and how to decide the most important place for one's energy and service.

She concluded her talk with a quotation from one of the religious papers: "God, give me sympathy and sense, and help me to keep my courage high. God, give me calm and confidence, and, please, a twinkle in my eye."

Mrs. Michael Karickhoff presented a program entitled, "Where Does a Christian Woman Volunteer Her Time." She stressed the point that any help is appreciated.

A dessert course was served to 10 members and one guest by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Petty.

Mrs. Nease said in the southland, however, where living was more gracious and more social, music was a part of living. Thomas Jefferson and Patrick Henry were violinists.

She concluded by stating that in the Philadelphia area Benjamin Franklin was a harpist and composer. He published and reprinted some of the first music. Francis Hopkinson is recognized as being the first American composer. Thus through the years progress is made to the present when music is considered a link between all countries.

Dear Abby: Emphatic Truth!

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: That letter from the mother who wrote that her teen-age daughter said she was spending the night at her girl friend's house, and who later found out she lied, struck close to home with me. I did the same thing when I was 16, two years ago. The mother asked you, "Why, would a girl lie about something like that?" And you replied, "Because she didn't have the courage to tell the truth." I can tell you why I lied, Abby. Because I told my mother I had a date, she would ask me who with. Where I met him, who his parents were, and lots of questions like that, so rather than go through the third degree, I lied. If parents didn't have to know the life history of every boy their daughters date, there wouldn't be so much lying.

HAD TO LIE
DEAR HAD: If a girl can't tell her parents who the boy is, where she met him, and a few other pertinent facts, she has no business going out with him. And any boy who permits a girl to lie to her parents is bad news.

DEAR ABBY: We would like your opinion of what the chances for happiness are in a marriage between a man of 36 and a woman of 55. They are both wonderful people. There is no problem of money on either side. They've been close friends for many years. (She taught him in high school.) Their families and friends never dreamed there could be a romantic interest between them, although he has been her constant escort. They have announced their plans to wed this summer. We feel that this happiness will be short-lived because she will be an elderly lady while he is still in the prime of life. What is your opinion?

THE FAMILIES

DEAR FAMILIES: Some men are "old" at 40, while some women are still "young" at 70. All that is necessary for a successful marriage is that each partner needs the other for something. This appears to be the case. They are both old enough to add, so don't worry about their future.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow, better off financially than most of my friends and relatives. When they go out to dine I am often invited to join them. Naturally, one of the men present will ask for the check. It would be embarrassing for the men, and also for me, if I were to ask for the check. Yet, I want to carry my own weight. What can advise me to reciprocate? Don't advise me to entertain them at home. I haven't the energy.

MRS. R.

DEAR MRS. R.: Invite your guests to one of your favorite dining spots. When you telephone for the reservation, ask the maitre d' to instruct the waiter to bring NO bill to the table. Arrange to pay the bill privately at another time.

Tossed greens make a wonderful lunch salad when they have the addition of anchovies, bacon and hard-cooked eggs. Cut the anchovy filets in small pieces, crumble the crisply cooked bacon and chop the eggs before tossing with the greens and French dressing.

You can use either cream cheese or cheddar cheese as a base for a chopped olive sandwich. Choose pimiento-stuffed green olives or green olives and canned pimientos.

Accomplishing Unexpected Is Not Unusual for Lodge

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—Springing surprises and accomplishing the unexpected is nothing unusual for Henry Cabot Lodge.

It has dotted his career since he went to work for a Boston newspaper as a reporter in 1922. The job was an unusual one for a college student whose ancestry includes six U.S. senators, a secretary of state, a secretary of the Navy and a governor of Massachusetts.

The unusual continued when he earned his degree from Harvard College in three years.

The unexpected burst onto the national political scene in 1936 when — as a tall, handsome young man of 34—Lodge won a U.S. Senate seat himself. The man he defeated was the late James Michael Curley, then at the height of a flamboyant career as the incumbent Democratic governor of Massachusetts.

Lodge did the unusual again in 1944, about a year after winning reelection to the Senate, by resigning to enter the Army. The 6-foot-3 Boston Brahmin won six battle stars, a bronze star and the Croix de Guerre while serving in Europe with a tank outfit.

He had been an avowed isolationist before World War II, saying, "This is not our war," even though he was a leader in the preparedness movement.

Afterward he was quick to admit that, "I was 100 per cent wrong."

"The Lodge who came back from the war was not the Lodge who had gone overseas," he said and worked to win Senate approval of the Marshall Plan and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Lodge came out publicly in November 1951, in favor of drafting Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Republican presidential nomination. He was practically alone among the political "big names" who did so—until Ike scored a smashing victory in the 1952 presidential primary in New Hampshire.

Lodge was the leader at the GOP national convention in Chicago that summer, where Eisenhower won the nomination over Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio. Lodge was the prime mover in the campaign which resulted in Eisenhower's November election over Adlai E. Stevenson.

But while Lodge was working for Ike he was away from his political fences in Massachusetts. A young congressman by the name of John F. Kennedy upset him in the Bay State Senate race and Lodge was out of a job.

He was back on the national scene before long, being named United Nations ambassador in 1953 by President Eisenhower. He became known for his diplomatic yet tough-talking rebuttals to the Soviet Union delegate.

The United Nations was the springboard from which he dived into the Republican vice presidential nomination in 1960. Again he — and Richard M. Nixon — was beaten by John F. Kennedy.

It was the late President Kennedy who asked him if he would accept the post of U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam. Lodge agreed immediately.

Mrs. Walters Presents 'Life in the Manse'

The Monday Club met in regular session in the trustees room at Memorial Hall. Mrs. David Fullen, president, presided over the business meeting. An invitation from the Circleville Art League was extended to attend their Guest Night meeting 8 p. m. Mar. 16 at Prairie Lanes meeting room. It was announced that the next meeting will be the annual social session.

Mrs. Henry Walters provided the program for the evening with the topic "Hearts and Souls." She spoke of the coincidence of time and topic in the original date, for she met her husband at a Valentine's Party.

Mrs. Walters talked on "Life in the Manse as We Know It" in an original and informal presentation of the experiences of a ministerial life. She began by saying that even though the Manse is Presbyterian, surely in the rectory, parsonage, and rabbi's home incidents have

Session Held By WSCS Circle No. 1

A program was presented by Mrs. Myron D. Neasse on "Early American Music."

The speaker explained that it was quite fitting to start such a discourse with the expression "Once Upon A Time" six or eight generations ago. Since music was not written at that time, both melody and words were handed down by word of mouth, thus placing it in the area of conjecture.

She noted that the Puritans of New England felt that it was pleasure-seeking or sinful to like music. The Psalms were their music and the five accepted melodies two or three in any key might be used at the same time by these hardy individualists. No singer was allowed to sing. History of music prior to 1700 was lacking. Finally some songs were published bringing a few new tunes, group singing and finally singing schools.

Mrs. Neasse said in the southland, however, where living was more gracious and more social, music was a part of living. Thomas Jefferson and Patrick Henry were violinists.

She concluded by stating that in the Philadelphia area Benjamin Franklin was a harpist and composer. He published and reprinted some of the first music. Francis Hopkinson is recognized as being the first American composer. Thus through the years a progress is made to the present when music is considered a link between all countries.

Dear Abby: Emphatic Truth!

DEAR ABBY: That letter from the mother who wrote that her teen-age daughter said she was spending the night at her girl friend's house, and who later found out she lied, struck close to home with me. I did the same thing when I was 16, two years ago. The mother asked you, "Why, would a girl lie about something like that?" And you replied, "Because she didn't have the courage to tell the truth." I can tell you why I lied, Abby. Because if I told my mother I had a date, she would ask me who with, where I met him, who his parents were, and lots of questions like that, so rather than go through the third degree, I lied. 'Bug' Workman
Granted Parole

TRENTON, N. J. (AP) — Charles (the bug) Workman walked out of New Jersey's state prison Tuesday, paroled after 23 years imprisonment for the gangland execution of Dutch Schultz, Prohibition Era beer baron.

Workman, 54, and his wife were whisked away in seconds by a sedan that had waited briefly for them in the rain. They spoke to no one.

The sedan had pulled up to the prison and beeped its horn four times. Within 10 seconds, Workman, a stock gray-haired grandfather, and his wife climbed in and sped away. A young man was at the wheel. Only a few newsmen and some prison officials watched them leave.

Workman had been sentenced to life in 1941 for the slaying of Schultz, who also was an overlord in the policies rackets.

Workman has been a cooperative prisoner.

He had pleaded no defense to the murder of Schultz. Two members of Murder Inc., testified that Workman was one of the gunmen who shot down Schultz and three of his bodyguards in a Newark restaurant in 1935.

Workman, to this day, has denied the crime.

In 1942, Workman led a group of long-term prisoners who volunteered to serve in a suicide fleet of PT boats to attack the Japanese navy.

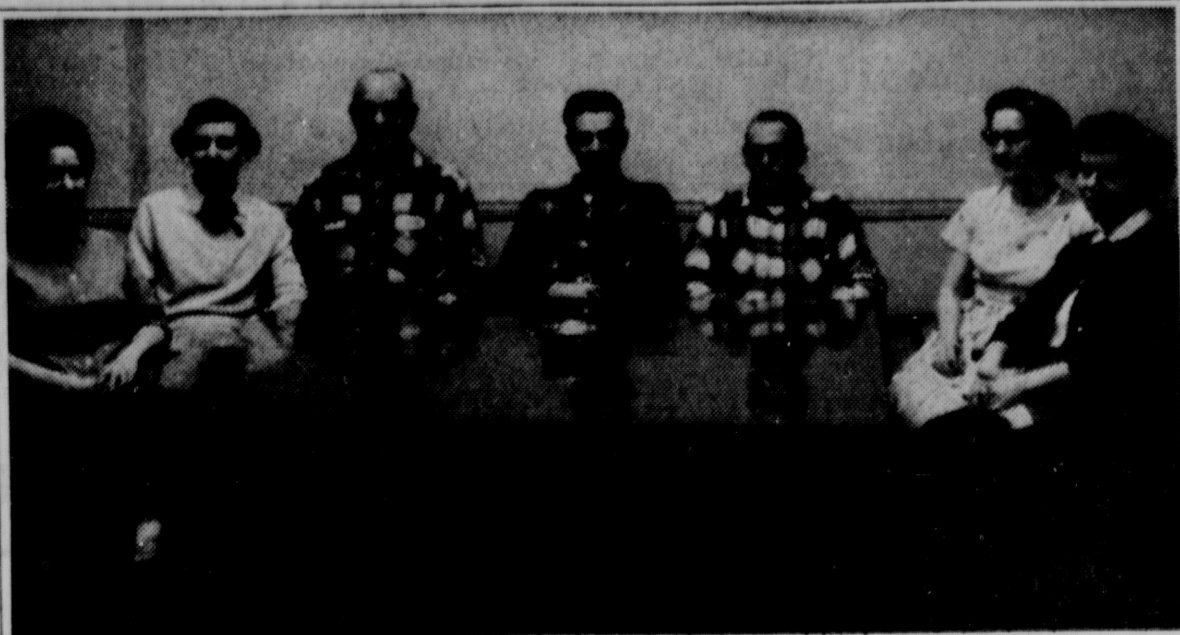

He has told authorities he plans to visit his brother and then take up again life with his wife, who visited him regularly during his imprisonment.

Missiles Cause High Fireworks

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Some of the most spectacular fireworks ever seen by man have been staged free of charge over the past few months by the Air Force.

Residents of Western states can expect to witness more high-altitude pyrotechnics as this West Coast missile base continues to test-fire an improved Minuteman intercontinental rocket.

The new Minuteman, designed to overcome an early version's limited range with higher energy propellants, has a much hotter exhaust.

This is one of the reasons for the recent unprecedented displays of colorful and explosive contrails in the Western skies that have awed and delighted thousands.

The hotter exhaust means a stronger and more dramatic interaction with the cold upper atmosphere and more molecules of steam and combustion debris to act like tiny, dancing prisms in the sunlight. Hotter gases also explain the explosions seen in the contrails of recent Minuteman missiles.

The new Minuteman goes so fast and its hotter exhaust expands so rapidly that when it streaks into a layer of thinner air its contrail seems to explode.

Contrails are created when the difference in temperature between atmosphere and exhaust is great enough to cause condensation. Jet planes, with their lower exhaust heat, run into these conditions only at high altitudes. Missiles have contrails until they run out of fuel.

On clear days when temperature and humidity conditions are right, skies over missile and air bases in California are cross-hatched with white trails of steam.

Missiles launched from the East Coast head away from the setting sun and out over the ice and where there are few human eyes to watch.

'Under-Withholding' May Hurt Taxpayer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A tip to taxpayers in the middle to upper-middle income brackets: Your tax cut may not be quite as big as it looked in your latest paycheck. Uncle Sam is withholding less this year than he used to, in proportion to the tax actually owed.

If you assume that the whole increase in take-home pay is yours to spend, you could find yourself in a pinch when income tax time rolls around a year from now.

Millions of taxpayers who usually get refunds will find the refund shrunken or gone entirely. A good many will be jarred to discover—unless they have taken steps to cushion the blow—that the owe the government sums ranging from small amounts up to hundreds of dollars.

The "under-withholding" gap results from technical problems met in introducing lower rates with the year already one-sixth over.

For taxpayers earning wages or salaries up to the general neighborhood of $10,000 a year, the withholding comes fairly close to matching the tax actually owed.

But in higher brackets, where withholding always has fallen well short of covering the tax liability, the margin now widens perceptibly.

For a hypothetical example, take Harry X. Birdlong, a junior executive who is paid $15,000 a year. He had a wife and two children. Like most taxpayers in his bracket, he itemizes his deductions because his interest, tax and medical outlays exceed the $1,000 standard deduction. They add up to $2,500, an average for his income group.

He has just finished figuring his 1963 tax. It came to $2,225. The withholding amounted to $2,220. Birdlong, has sent the Internal Revenue Service $5 with his 1963 tax return.

For 1964 his federal income tax will drop to around $1,975. His paycheck withholding will come to about $1,810.

Instead of owing IRS only $5 he will owe something like $165. With the new tax tables for 1964 which IRS has made available, Birdlong, can estimate his 1964 taxes in advance and remit larger quarterly payments.

Birdlong might elect, instead, to ask his employer to reduce his exemptions. With a $15,000 income, he could make the withholdings cover his tax liability but not taking the withholding exemptions for the two children.

For him, this device would work out this way: tax, about $1,975; withholdings, about $2,000; result at year's end, a $25 refund from the government.

The IRS says most employers will make such an adjustment if the withholding is increased in multiples of $5. However, tax men add a warning: the under-withholding will be less acute in 1965, when the tax reduction program is fully in effect.

So a taxpayer who has jacked up his withholdings to come out even in 1964 may find that the withholdings are somewhat large in 1965.

Oscar Nominee Working Now for $1.50 an Hour

NEW YORK (AP) — Today's Cinderella story concerns a Viennese architect-turned-actress of mature years and gentle manner. The only trouble with the story is that Cinderella has not yet made it to the ball.

A fortnight ago the Academy Award nominations were announced, and one of the nominees was Lilia Skala for her role as the vinegary nun in "Lilies of the Field."

She received congratulations at New York's City Center Theater, where she works in the lost and found department. She is still there among the neglected galoshes and forgotten umbrellas, toiling for $1.50 per hour.

Her reaction to the nomination?

"Of course I am thrilled. I did not expect it. I did not even think about it. I have known too many disappointments in my life to count on anything."

What a life it has been. It began in Austria, but don't ask her how long ago.

Lilia longed to act as a girl, but her parents had other ideas. She studied architecture and engineering at Dresden University and graduated with honors. "I was the first woman engineer in Austria," she says proudly.

After her marriage to a hat manufacturer, she appeared with Max Reinhardt and in Austrian films. She came to America after the Hitler takeover, and her acting roles were interspersed with jobs as waitress, saleswoman, babysitter, etc.

She had successful times — featured roles in "Call Me Madam" and "The Diary of Anne Frank" on Broadway and important parts in television. But you gather that there were also long periods of idleness.

Miss Skala was enduring such a period a year and a half ago when she was called about a role in the touring company of "A Far Country."

Meanwhile, she read a newspaper item that Ralph Nelson was casting for a new film to star Sidney Poitier, "Lilies of the Field." She had worked for Nelson on the "I Remember Mama" television series, and she sent him a note that she would like to be in his film.

Faced with the dilemma over a sure job and a nebulous one, Miss Skala did what she always does in times of trial. She prayed.

Nelson came through with the plum role of the mother superior. Did her fortunes change?

"No," she says. "Last year I did one co-starring role in 'The Defenders' and one soap opera. It was my worst year since I had come to America."

But things seem to be picking up. Stanley Kramer has said he wants her for "Ship of Fools." The Oscar night April 13 will bring her more attention. Will she be in Santa Monica for it? "Only if they send me," she says. "I can't afford it myself."

A-Carrier's True Value Is Debated

ABOARD USS ENTERPRISE (AP)—Like some haughty duchess, the gigantic American aircraft carrier Enterprise commands awe but also provokes arguments about her worth.

Her defenders argue that this nuclear-powered, 86,200-ton warship now maneuvering in the Mediterranean with her 101 planes and surface escorts, constitutes the most sophisticated weapons system in the world, with advantages of mobility and a wide spectrum of military responses.

Her critics contend that the Enterprise, for all her newness, is a $500-million white elephant, hopelessly out of date in a missile world in which the Polaris submarine fits neatly.

One thing is beyond dispute. The Navy loves the Enterprise. The 1,123-foot-long ship is the repository for traditions built up in the Pacific naval battles of World War II. The future of the naval aviator revolves around the Big E's successor.

Rear Adm. William I. Martin, commander of the 6th Fleet's Carrier Division 2, employs the Enterprise as his flagship. He was a young flying officer on the old Enterprise, the Big E of wartime fame.

For sentiment's sake, the new Enterprise has only five port-holes in her hull, all taken from the old Enterprise. They grace the cabin of the new giant's skipper, Capt. Frederick H. Michaelis, a native of Kansas City.

But tradition does not win wars, the doubters say.

They argue that the Enterprise is really not a modern weapon despite the efficiency of her 5,000-man crew and her eight nuclear reactors that enable her to roam the ocean at high speed without refueling for three years or so.

Employed in a region as restricted as the Mediterranean, the Enterprise would be a sitting duck for rockets. Presumably the Russians keep rockets holed in on her now as she maneuvers with the 6th Fleet.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather:

Cloudiness blanketed Ohio Tuesday night, but temperatures still dropped as low as 13 at Toledo and in the upper teens and lower 20s over most of the northern section. The southern and central counties remained mostly in the lower 30s.

A few snow flurries occurred during the night but ended in all but the extreme east by this morning.

Afternoon sunshine today was expected to lift temperatures into the 40s.

Another low pressure area moving eastward may bring light rain or snow tonight. Low temperatures tonight will be mostly in the 30s, but Thursday will be mostly fair and warmer with temperatures reaching the low 50s in the southern and central counties.

OHIO FIVE DAY FORECASTS
NORTHERN OHIO — Temperatures will average three to five degrees above normal. Normal high 43-44, normal low 25 - 29. Rising temperatures through Friday, cooler Saturday, warmer Sunday and Monday. Precipitation will average about one-fourth inch as scattered showers or snow flurries Friday night, again Monday.

SOUTHERN & CENTRAL OHIO—Temperatures will average above normal. Normal high 47-56, normal low 29-34. Mild. Precipitation will average around one-tenth inch west to half an inch east tonight and near end of week.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has gone further than it ever has in protecting press freedom to criticize the government. But it took 700 years of American-British history to reach this point.

In a unanimous decision Monday the nine justices said:

Citizens and newspapers don't have to fear damages for libel in criticizing public officials' official conduct, even though the criticism is untrue, unless actual malice can be proved. An that takes some proving.

Nevertheless that attached condition—liability for damages if actual malice is proved—stops short of giving the press a blank check. It stopped too short for three justices: Arthur J. Goldberg, Hugo Black and William O. Douglas.

They would have gone all the way and given newspapers an absolute privilege in criticizing public officials. This was the thinking behind the decision which was written for all nine by Justice William J. Brennan.

So long as a newspaper has to fear a damage suit, because something it says may be in error, it is discouraged from freely exercising its right under the Constitution to criticize the government.

Therefore, truth no longer has to be proved, only malice does.

The press got to this point over a tortured road going back to the 13th century in Britain when freedom was the special privilege of kings and the excuse for suppressing any criticism was the need to preserve government.

Any critic of the king could be jailed, branded, tortured, or executed. Gradually, as the British people inched toward freedom, came censorship and near the end of the 16th century a licensing system was devised. This was a stiff restriction. No book could be published without a license. Even by the middle of the 17th century the number of presses and printers was limited. It was a crime even to criticize a magistrate.

There was an excuse for this, too: to prevent the public from getting the impression the king's servants were corrupt. After licensing was abandoned a restriction was used: a tax on printing.

This was to gag the press and ruin small papers. Eventually, the truth of a criticism became a sufficient defense. The British didn't reach that point until the middle of the last century.

The United States reached it earlier but only after a lot of pain. The British colonial governors carried Britain's press restrictions with them here. The colonies went through the same routine: licensing, censorship.

The governor's grip was so tight a colony might have only one newspaper or none.

Even with the framers of the American Constitution, what we now call the Bill of Rights—the first 10 amendments guaranteeing, among other things, freedom of speech and press—was an afterthought.

It wasn't even discussed until the constitutional convention was almost over. Then, after the states approved the Constitution, the Bill of Rights was added. Even here the bitter lessons were learned the hard way.

In 1798 the new American government ignored the Bill of Rights when Congress approved the Alien and Sedition Acts. One of them made it a crime to publish "false, scandalous or malicious material" against the government.

Although those acts only lasted until 1801, 10 persons were convicted under them. From then on truth became a defense. But through the years the Supreme Court saw-sawed on press freedom, always holding to restraints.

This week's decision was truly a landmark because now the American press has less restriction than ever in criticizing government officials. This applies, of course, only to their official acts, not their private ones.

Nation's Elderly Bilked By Health Quackery Deals

WASHINGTON (AP)—Investigating senators received testimony Tuesday that one of the more "outrageous attempts to bilk the elderly" involves the promotion of such things as purported potency pills and bust-builders.

Irving Ladinir, spokesman for the National Better Business Bureau, Inc., said the promoters appeal to women with "skin rejuvenators, wrinkle removers, and vitamin preparations."

He said the men "are besieged by potency pills, drugs, various stimulants and devices."

Chief Postal Inspector Henry B. Montague, an earlier witness, said that his department still occasionally encounters quackery involving electric belts, buzzers "and even black magic potions guaranteed to cure all manner of disease."

But, he added, most of today's frauds "are more sophisticated."

"Treatments are offered by mail for every conceivable condition, including cancer, diabetes, prostate trouble, asthma, arthritis, heart disease, and impotency," Montague testified.

Other witnesses testified that "hucksters of nutritional quackery fleece the elderly of hundreds of millions of dollars annually."

Dr. Frederick J. Stare, chairman of the Harvard School of Public Health's Department of Nutrition, charged that nutritional quackery "has become one of the smoothest and best organized rackets in the country."

He was backed up by Dr.

Dena C. Cederquist, chairman of Michigan State University's Department of Foods and Nutrition. They testified before a Senate subcommittee investigating medical and health quackery affecting the aging.

BUILDING PROGRAM LEADERS — Here are the leaders for a building program that has been launched by the First Presbyterian Church. They are, from the left: William Sprague, general co-chairman; Philip Hardy, canvass chairman; Rev. Henry Walters, minister; George Young, general co-chairman; Lemuel Weldon, advance gifts chairman. The project calls for an educational unit and a fellowship hall.

Soviet Loaded With Talent

45,000 Said Able To Make Olympics

NEW YORK (AP)—There are 45,000 athletes in the Soviet Union capable of making the Russian Olympic team, high jumper Valery Brumel said today.

"They hold medals as Masters of Sport, the highest honor our country can give to a sportsman," the slim, good-looking world record holder from Moscow added.

"Every one of them is good enough in his specialty to qualify. So you can see how hard it is to make the Olympic team. There are 45 million men and women registered with the various sports association but these 45,000 are all potential champions."

Brumel, whose 7-foot-5½" is the highest any man ever high-jumped, is in New York to receive the American Broadcasting Company award as Athlete of the Year.

"Even I am not sure of making the team," the Russian physical education student, father of a three-months-old son, said in an interview. "We have many men who are approaching seven feet. There are two school boys who already have gone over seven feet and I do not know how good they may be when our final trials are held in August."

Brumel said he believed a mark of 7-2 might be good enough to win the gold medal at Tokyo, and the man to do it might well be the flop of the 1960 Games at Rome, Boston's John Thomas.

"Thomas is very much improved, I understand," the Russian said. "I think he can do 7-2. I think I also am capable of that height."

Asked why he didn't think he might match his mark of 7-5, Brumel replied:

"It is one thing to jump in a routine meet. It is another to jump in the Olympics. Pressure is tremendous. The strain is so great that no man can give his best."

First Presbyterian Church Launches Building Campaign

The First Presbyterian Church of Circleville has launched a Building Campaign to raise funds for an educational unit and fellowship hall.

Lemuel Weldon, chairman of the advance gifts committee, announced at a Kick-Off dessert Monday night that $29,000 had been raised toward the $100,000 victory goal. The challenge goal is $80,000.

Campaign workers attending the kick-off meeting received final instructions and selected names of the prospects they will visit by Mar. 22, the close of the campaign. The slogan adopted is "Together We Build."

William Sprague and George Young are general co-chairmen of the campaign. Philip Hardy is canvass chairman.

THE DIVISION leaders are Mr. and Mrs. Myron Gearhart, Mr. and Mrs. John Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wirth and Mr. and Mrs. Winship Story.

Team captains are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Meyers, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bower, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Hart, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Luna, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hull, Mr. and Mrs. William Camp, Mr. and Mrs. William Sprout, Mr. and Mrs. James Baehr, Mr. and Mrs. David Yates, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wellington, Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Painter and Mr. and Mrs. John Woods.

Numerous other committees are participating in the campaign. Chairman are: Ken Luna, promotion; Mrs. Tom Downing, prayer; Mrs. J. Beryl Stevenson, auditing; Dick Robinson, arrangements; Leon Van Vliet, secretarial.

10,665 Books Borrowed From Library in Feb.

Mrs. Wilmina Wolford, librarian, Pickaway County District Public Library, announced today that a total of 10,665 books were borrowed from the library during the month of February.

These included 2,795 adult non-fiction, 2,368 adult fiction, 1,587 juvenile non-fiction, 3,784 juvenile fiction.

More Jobs In Ohio Get Rhodes Push

HURON, Ohio (AP)—The only answer for the future of our state in the long run is employment for all," Gov. James A. Rhodes told an industry appreciation audience Tuesday night.

Unemployment is "the greatest blight there is on the dignity and decency of man," said Rhodes in once again calling on Ohioans to join in an all-out war on joblessness.

"The only cure for unemployment is jobs."

He stressed the importance of creating an industrial climate in Ohio that will produce new jobs. Present industry must be encouraged to expand and new industry attracted to the state, he said.

Rhodes discussed the same topic at a similar session earlier in the day at Fremont.

Lt. Gov. John W. Brown, speaking in the same vein in Tiffin, said, "the enemies of a favorable economic climate in Ohio are beginning to work again."

Rapping critics of the State Development Department, Brown said they are "deliberately avoiding the facts," which, he said, are that Ohio has begun an economic recovery that indicates "a sharp increase in jobs from new and expanded industry."

School District Offers CD Course

The Circleville School District again will offer an "Education for Survival" program which has the objective of promoting Civil Defense adult education.

The program will be offered through cooperation of the State Department of Education and the City School District. Two classes successfully completed the course of instruction at CHS last year.

Fritz Jacobs, superintendent of schools, said a minimum of 20 enrollees is needed for one class. A maximum of 30 can be handled in each class.

Jacobs said if more than 30 and at least 50 persons enroll, two classes will be scheduled. They would run concurrently for the six-week period of instruction.

THE COURSE to be offered is a revised concept, featuring new ideas and the latest procedure methods in Civil Defense.

Two qualified instructors will be available for the proposed course at CHS. They are Don Poling and James Shaw, both teachers.

Jacobs said descriptive letters, including registration forms, will be circulated to parents through elementary students in the school district. Adults are requested to return the forms by Mar. 16.

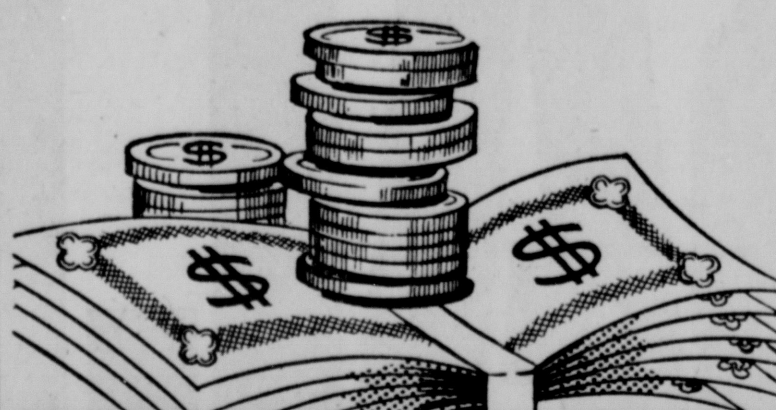

The first meeting, if the CD proposal materializes here, has been set for 7:30 p. m. Mar. 26.

Jacobs pointed out that the course of instruction will be offered at no cost to participating individuals. He said the classes will cover the latest means of combatting tornadoes, storms, fires, floods, explosions, fallout dangers and other possible disasters.

WINTERTIME DRY NOSE

Q. Is it heat or humidity that causes wintertime dry nose?

A. It's low humidity (lack of sufficient moisture in the air). To provide comfort at 72°F., room air should have a relative humidity of about 40 per cent. This means that the air should be 40 per cent saturated with moisture. Even under this "ideal" condition the nose has trouble keeping up. Every 24 hours we breathe about 500 cubic feet of air. In passing through the nose the air is warmed to almost 98.6°F. (body temperature) and about one pint of water is supplied by the nose to raise the relative humidity to 95 per cent. A pint of water is a lot for one nose to supply. And the nose loses the battle with the furnace in the winter time when, as is the case in many homes, room air relative humidity drops as low as 25 per cent. In disease and old age the nose simply can't deliver that much water; drainage stops and germs take over. Humidifying the air in the house during winter months isn't easy, even with expensive central air-conditioning.

CHS Trackmen Open March 20

Opening of the 1964 track season is only a little more than a week away for the Circleville High School cindermen. Under new head coach Jim Lint, the Tiger thinclads will travel to Lancaster High School Mar. 20 for a meet scheduled to begin at 4 p. m. The CHS track candidates have been working outside when the weather permitted since the first of March. Lint replace Carl Benhase, former Circleville coach who is now at Hanover College, Hanover, Ind.

HEADING the list of strong returnees is South Central Ohio League defending hurdle champion, Jim Wood, a junior. For the past two years he has been the most consistent winner for Circleville, competing in the broad jump as well as both the 180 low hurdles and the 120 high hurdles.

Other veterans include Jim McCoskey and Doug Pontious in the pole vault, Howard Fletcher and Mike Ramey in the shotput, Gene Smith in the discus, Jerry Shasteth in the 440 and the relays.

The dash men are Charles Martin, Mapsil Hurlburt and Eddie Smith.

In the high jump, Doug Price and Charles Smith are the two top competitors.

Lyman England currently heads the list of half milers for the Tigers. Dick Butz, Larry Morgan and Charles Hurley are the milers.

Hurley was named the most valuable member of the cross country track team last fall.

PROMISING freshmen include Tom Jenkins in the 440 and the relays, Tim Stonerock in the dashes, Bill Pritchard in the 440, Terry Martin in the 880 and Mike Wells in the shotput.

They will compete in at least ten meets before the South Central Ohio League track meet at Greenfield, May 12.

The sectionals are scheduled May 14. The district meet comes up May 16, promising a busy week for the Tigers.

Circleville's lack of an adequate cinder oval has forced scheduling of all meet at other schools.

Here is the current schedule: Mar. 20 at Lancaster April 2 at Washington C. H. April 6 at Bexley April 9 at Teays Valley April 16 at Greenfield April 21 at Greenfield April 28 at Groveport May 1 at Chillicothe (night) May 5 at Chillicothe May 8 at Upper Arlington (night) May 12 at Greenfield (SCOL Meet) May 14 sectionals May 16 District

OU Tops Louisville In Tourney Test

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Chicago Loyola Ramblers are over their first hurdle in a drive to win the national collegiate basketball championship for the second straight year.

Down by 13 points at 21-8 after 14 minutes of play the Ramblers roared from behind Tuesday night to defeat Murray State 101-91 in the NCAA tournament play at Evanston, Ill. The Ohio University Bobcats whipped Louisville 71-69 in overtime in the other Midwest Regional game at North western's McGraw Hall.

Utah State came from behind in the last 85 seconds to defeat Arizona State 92-90 and Seattle, beaten twice by Oregon State during the regular season, surprised the Beavers 61-57 in the Far West Regionals at Eugene, Ore.

These four games completed the first round nationally in the NCAA and set up these second round pairings at four regional sites Friday:

East at Raleigh — Duke vs. Villanova and Princeton vs. Connecticut.

Midwest at Minneapolis — Kentucky vs. Ohio University and Michigan vs. Chicago Loyola.

Midwest at Wichita — Creighton vs. Wichita and Texas Western vs. Kansas State.

Far West at Corvallis, Ore.—UCLA vs. Seattle and Utah State vs. San Francisco.

Friday's winners meet at the same sites in Saturday's quarter-finals. Saturday's survivors then go to Kansas City for the semifinals and final March 20-21.

The NCAA small college tourney quarter-finals are on tap tonight at Evansville, Ind., where Hofstra meets Akron, Evansville plays Cal Poly of Pomona, Southeast Missouri plays State College of Iowa and Adelphi opposes North Carolina A&T. Pan-American of Texas, the defending champion, heads the second round play today in the NAIA at Kansas City.

And Thursday the NIT opens in New York with Miami of Florida paired against St. Joseph's of Philadelphia and NYU against Syracuse in a doubleheader at Madison Square Garden.

Liston Hit By Troubles In Hometown

DENVER (AP) — Former heavyweight boxing champion Sonny Liston was arrested Tuesday night by a traffic officer who said Liston was driving 76 miles an hour in a 30 mile an hour zone.

Patrolman James Snider said after stopping Liston's Cadillac he found in a search of Liston that he was carrying a seven shot .22 caliber pistol with six cartridges and an empty shell.

Snider, alone when he stopped Liston's car, said he had to call another patrol car for help in handcuffing Liston "when he became belligerent." He was taken in handcuffs to police headquarters.

Snider said he charged Liston with reckless and careless driving, speeding, carrying a concealed weapon and driving without a valid Colorado operator's license. Liston was booked at the jail but gained his immediate release by posting $300 bond, Snider said.

The officer, 5-foot-10, 185 pounds, said he didn't know who

Liston was "until I got down to headquarters and one of the other officers who knew him, said 'Hello Sonny'."

Snider said another person in Liston's car was not taken into custody and drove his car away. Snider said he didn't know his identity.

When Albie Pearson batted .304 for the Los Angeles Angels in 1963 he set a club record.

Skinner Eyed By Reds Boss

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Manager Fred Hutchinson of the Cincinnati Reds is now looking at the possibility that Bob Skinner may help solve some problems.

The lanky outfielder caught Hutch's eye Tuesday when he smashed a 400-foot homer over the center field fence in the club's first spring training intrasquad game. Skinner led the Turners to a 7-4 victory over the Sislers.

"If he can hit .280 or .290 he'll have a starting job sewed up," said Hutchinson of Skinner. "He's swinging that bat this spring like he did a couple of years ago with Pittsburgh when he was recognized as one of the loop's better hitters."

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our beloved mother, Edith Mae Cupp who passed away 4 years ago today, March 10, 1960.
In a graveside softly sleeping,
Where the flowers gently wave;
Lies the one we loved so dearly,
But whom we could not save.
She was a wonderful Mother,
She lived life's battles fair,
No matter when we needed her
We always found her there.
So on this day our hearts go out
To our dearest and sweetest Mother,
Who never had time to think of herself.
But always thought of others.
Sadly missed by sons and daughters.

In loving memory of our dear
husband and father, Charles E.
Cummins, who passed away, March 11, 1963.
In a grave yard softly sleeping,
Where the flowers gently wave,
Lies the one we loved so dearly,
But whom we could not save.
God above knows how we miss him
And He counts the tears we shed,
Often we catch ourselves listening
Fully sure that he is near.
If all the world was ours to give
We'd give it, yes and more,
To see the face of the one we love,
And have him back once more.
Sadly missed by Wife, sons, relatives and friends.

Splendid Splinter Back
To Talk about Hitting
SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) —
The guy with No. 9 on his back, and a few extra pounds up front, reluctantly stopped hitting fun-gos to the Boston outfield and came over to pose for pictures.
Within a minute he was talking about hitting and four or five players were gathered around,
as attentive as unpublished poets at the feet of the Bard.
"Now the first rule of hitting," said Ted Williams, "is to get a good pitch to hit. If the pitcher fools you with a ball that's over, you take until he's got two strikes on you."
"Then you concede that the pitcher is in the driver's seat, and you bring your hands up on that bat."
Among the listeners was Carl Yastrzemski, the American League batting champion. Now you'd figure he needs a lecture on hitting like Frank Howard needs elevator shoes.
But Yastrzemski kept listening. When he was a 2-year-old, the lecturer hit .406. In 1957, the same guy hit .388. Those are the two highest major league batting averages in the last third of a century.
"I'll probably be here a couple of weeks," Williams told a reporter after the picture session. "I'll talk about hitting to anybody who wants to listen."
"Most of the young players like to talk about it because it's the hardest thing to do consistently well in baseball. How often do you hear of an outfielder going into a long fielding slump?"
"Now, to do any good here,
I've got to be able to talk to a hitter without giving him the idea I'm trying to change his style. I think once a player has developed a style he's just about got to sink or swim with it."
"But it's possible to be a good hitter with any style, short of standing on your head."
Williams, an executive assistant on the Boston staff, joined the club here after a trip to the South Pacific. He was the star in an outdoors promotion sponsored by the New Zealand government tourist bureau.
"First I caught a 600-pound
thresher shark," he said. "Then
I caught some trout and killed three deer—all in the space of 10 1/2 hours. They had planes to take me from place to place."

Views on Television—Radio
By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The television networks moved into New Hampshire like an army on partisan maneuvers for covering a presidential election.
Tuesday night was just like 1960. The magic computers were back in stage center and so were the boards with the changing vote figures.
Because of the computers, the suspense was over very early in the evening. By 7:30 p.m., EST, the electronic machines had digested early returns and the commentators were talking about the Lodge victory as if all the votes had been counted.
The early evening special programs on CBS and NBC, therefore, were much more concerned with analysis and speculation than with other aspects of the election.
NBC, with all its top newsmen on the job, used its staff for comment and predictions on the men, issues and coming events.
CBS pulled in some interesting outside experts. Political pollster Louis Harris did a brief analysis on the way the vote was chopping into Rockefeller and Goldwater strength. On a second show, he amplified that,
to state flatly that the Lodge victory meant a rejection of the two avowed candidates by New Hampshire Republicans.
Meade Alcorn, former GOP national chairman, and Theodore H. White, the other specialist, also spoke of the effect of the Lodge victory on the other candidates and potential candidates, particularly on Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania.
David Brinkley of NBC, explaining the reason for the enormous fuss over the New Hampshire primary, suggested it was partly because it was the first one in the election year and also because "it's a dull season of the year between football and baseball and besides it's fun to see millionaires stomping through the snow being folks."

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our beloved
mother, Edith Mae Cupp who passed away 4 years ago today, March 10, 1963.
In a graveside softly sleeping,
Where the flowers gently wave,
Lies the one we loved so dearly,
Whom we could not save.
She was a wonderful Mother,
She lived life's battles fair,
No matter when we needed her
We always found her there.
So on this day our hearts go out,
To our dearest sweetest Mother,
Who never had time to think of herself.
But always thought of others.
Safely missed by sons and daughters.

In loving memory of our dear
husband and father, Charles E.
Cummins, who passed away, March 11, 1963.
In a graveside softly sleeping,
Where the flowers gently wave,
Lies the one we loved so dearly,
Whom we could not save.
He was a wonderful Father,
He lived life's battles fair,
No matter when we needed him
We always found him there.
So on this day our hearts go out,
To our dearest sweetest Father,
Who never had time to think of herself.
But always thought of others.
Safely missed by wife, sons, relatives and friends.

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Some 80 students aren't going to die for dear old Cedarville College of Ohio, but they gave their blood so they could see the basketball team play in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics tournament.

Pistons Pull Upset over Cincy Royals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Nobody's as loose as a loser when the string begins to run out on a pennant race. The current National Basketball Association windup is no exception.
The lowly Detroit Pistons, feeling no pain at this stage of their worst NBA season, ambushed Cincinnati 114-103 Tuesday night and wrecked the Royals' Eastern Division title hopes.
The Pistons-turned gremlins thus assured Boston of at least a share of its eighth straight Eastern crown. One more Boston victory or Cincinnati defeat will put the Celtics over the top.
Two other also-rans, Baltimore and New York, had similar sabotage plans for the Western Division leaders. But San Francisco and St. Louis, running 1-2 and a game apart in the West, refused to follow the script.
The Warriors stepped away from the Bulls 129-111 and the Hawks shrugged off the Knicks 124-105.
Ray Scott and Jackie Moreland shot the Pistons ahead to stay early in the third quarter after Cincinnati's 60 per cent first half gunning gave the Royals a 59-56 intermission spread. Bob Ferry's three-point play finished the Royals after they closed to within four points in the final period.
Scott had 27 points for Detroit. Cincy's Oscar Robertson sank all seven of his first half shots and wound up with 33.

Wally Post In Line for Indian Spot

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Veteran Wally Post is doing a good job so far in proving that he should play right field for the Cleveland Indians when the season opens.
Post, one of eight right field candidates, swung a hot bat Tuesday as he helped the Tribe to a 9-7 exhibition victory over the Los Angeles Angels.
The former National League star slammed a 440-foot three-run homer and drove in four runs. He also had a single.
Other hitting stars for Cleveland, now 2-2 in the Cactus League, were shortstop Dick Howser, with a single and double in three at-bats, and Al Smith, who had two singles. The 36-year-old Smith also is a candidate for the right field spot.
None of the four Tribe pitchers who worked showed well. They were Dick Donovan, Jerry Walker, Dick Beres and George Culver. Each was hit hard and the four allowed a total of seven walks.
Donovan, the starter, got credit for the victory. Bill Kelso, second of four Los Angeles hurlers, was the loser.

sent down to Hawaii in the Pacific Coast League last season, gave up only two hits and fanned four in a two-inning stint against Cleveland at Tucson.
In between he issued three bases on balls, made a wild pitch and nearly beamed pitcher Dick Donovan of the Indians. And one of the two hits he yielded was a 450-foot homer by Wally Post with two on in the first innings. The hefty wallop started Cleveland on the way to a 9-7 victory.
Belinsky blanked the Indians in the second inning by striking out the side after two walks. He was slated to work three innings, but Manager Bill Rigney removed him after the second "because he threw too many pitches."
Leon Wagner, traded to Cleveland by the Angels, was one of Belinsky's strikeout victims in his first appearance against his former teammates. In fact, he didn't hit the ball out of the infield in three at bats. In addition, he dropped a fly ball in foul territory and drew a salute from the Angel bench.
The San Francisco Giants beat Boston 5-1 at Phoenix for their fourth straight victory in the only other exhibition scheduled Tuesday.
Rookies Jesus Alou and Jim Hart starred for the Giants. Alou tripled in the first and came home on Hart's sacrifice fly. In the seventh Alou beat out an infield single and Hart doubled him home to start a three-run uprising.
Bob Shaw yielded only one hit in the first three innings to register his second victory of the spring for the unbeaten Giants.

In keeping with National Girl Scout Week, Troop 425 of Circleville conducted an inspiring Court of Awards Dinner Sunday at the Pickaway Country Club.

The event was highlighted by the presentation of Curved Bar awards to 10 members of the troop. Mrs. Charles Thompson, 122 Collins Court, is the troop leader.

The Curved Bar award is the highest honor attainable in intermediate scouting. The event here is thought to mark the largest single group in the county to win the coveted award, which by national decree cannot be awarded in the United States after this year.

Another highlight of the evening was the presentation of a gift and flowers to Mrs. Thompson by troop members.

MRS. THOMPSON and assistant leader, Mrs. John Mackenzie, presented the Curved Bar awards. They were aided by Marietta Sweeney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacques Sweeney.

Receiving the awards were Patty Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Robinson; Barbara Rackett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Rackett; Sandy Porter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Porter; Paula Mackenzie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Mackenzie; Debbie Woods, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Woods.

Extradition Is Sought

Burglar-Bigamist Wanted in Ohio

CLEVELAND (AP) — Authorities here say they will fight to extradite from Louisiana a convicted burglar with six wives who faces deportation to his native Denmark.

The man, Hans Jorgen Otto, 37, finishes a two-year prison term for burglary in Louisiana this week, and Southern authorities have said they want to deport him.

Cleveland's police department is among 12 in various states seeking Otto. The situation is further complicated because New York state authorities claim prior jurisdiction to Otto on charges of bigamy and also say they want to deport him.

Otto was indicted Tuesday by the Cuyahoga County grand jury here for abandoning a pregnant wife, burglary, safe tampering and possession of burglary tools.

Joseph D. Donahue, assistant county prosecutor, said he would not drop extradition proceedings against Otto.

"After he's served his time here, we'll deport him," he said. Cleveland officials said Otto returned to this country after being deported to Copenhagen in 1948.

They said Otto left behind two women he married in New York when he came to Cleveland in 1960 and married another woman. They said he fled Cleveland shortly after his marriage and married three more women during a 12-state burglary spree.

Otto is accused of a $5,000 burglary at the El Dorado, a Euclid Avenue night spot where he was working in April 1960. He also took the wardrobe of Herman Pichner, owner of the club, detectives said.

Maxine Otto, described as Otto's Cleveland wife, was quoted as saying Otto left her with $4,000 in debts, including the bill for her wedding ring.

Otto was arrested in Lafayette La., and sentenced to prison.

March winds mean Kite Flying is just around the corner, according to the Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co.

A request to "call the electric company" is part of the annual spring campaign to help promote safety in kite flying. Parents and children, too, are urged to call Columbus and Southern Ohio and report exact location of kites caught in the electric lines.

A service crew will be sent out immediately to remove the kite safely, spokesmen said.

Dance Numbers Highlight 'High Fever Follies' Show

"Look Ma, I'm Dancing!" And the cast of, "High Fever Follies", is doing just that — and well too.

The Berger Hospital General Guilds production is due for showing Mar. 20 and 21 in the Circleville High School auditorium. Under the direction of Bill Harrod, a Jerome Cargill producer from New York City, local people are learning fast the intricate dance routines and seem to love every minute of it.

Far from being a local amateur night, this production is considered a well planned and well executed Broadway type show, cast with local people. Joe Blow will not play his wash board and Aunt Minnie will not give her recitation of "Trees".

Professionally designed and carefully worked out continuity is expected to give Roundtowners a finished product well worth their time.

A native of Texas, Harrod qualifies for his tasks, having received his masters degree in music. He is now working toward a Ph D at Indiana University.

HE HAS been featured as a singer and dancer in summer stock musicals in the south and Midwest and has appeared on television and as a model. For two years he sang with the New York City Center Opera, was guest artist at the Huntington Opera Festival and was soloist for Dr. Norman Vincent Peale at the famed Marble Collegiate Church. He has also appeared at Carnegie Hall and Lincoln Center's Philharmonic Hall with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra.

Harrod has appeared with outstanding personalities such as Ginger Rogers, Van Johnson, Forrest Tucker in his last performances as "The Music Man," Juanita Hall in the touring company of "Flower Drum Song" with the Kenley Players in Warren and Columbus, Johnny Desmond, Marion Marlowe, Julia Meade and many others. His varied background and broad experience in the musical theater brought him to the attention of the Jerome Cargill organization, which he joined this past fall.

Bruce Craig, serving as an

apprentice under Harrod, will soon be producing his own shows. He received early training at East Central State College and Phillips University in Oklahoma. He has studied with Milton Katselas and Frank Corsaro, both of New York.

Craig has appeared in the off Broadway production of "One Fine Morning in the Middle of the Night," directed by John Cullum. He has had considerable experience in summer stock, children's theatre and radio and television.

Rotary To Hear News Director

John Fraim, veteran newscaster, will be guest speaker at Thursday's noon luncheon meeting of the Circleville Rotary Club.

Fraim, a native of Indianapolis, Ind., has worked in the field of news reporting and broadcasting for 18 years. He currently is news director for the Taft Broadcasting Co. in Columbus.

The newscaster did not disclose his subject for Thursday's luncheon program. However, he said it will be a "surprise" for all who attend.

Today in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

VIET NAM POLICY: U.S. officials said today the South Viet Nam government plans major changes in its strategic hamlet program to help speed the war against Communist guerrillas. They said the new program would include:

—Reducing to a minimum the number of forced relocations of peasants into strategic hamlets.

—Payment of compensation to peasants required to leave their homes to enter the fortified hamlets.

—Providing not only security but economic and social benefits quickly and effectively to areas that have been cleared of Viet Cong guerrillas.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK: Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges says business investment is expected to climb to a record $43.2 billion this year.

His prediction at a news conference Tuesday was backed up by figures released by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The SEC said a survey it carried out with the Commerce Department indicated business spending on new plants and equipment would increase $4 billion—or more than 10 percent—above the $39.22 billion in 1963.

Business investment is considered one of the most important indicators of the economy's health because investment in new plants and equipments creates new jobs.

MARINE BLUES: If the Marines adopted Rep. Daniel Flood's suggestion that they dress the part of a gung-ho outfit it would cost them a pretty penny to garb all the Leather-necks in glamorous blues.

The Pennsylvania Democrat, confronted by Marine officers in their regulation green at a House committee hearing, told them: "You're a gung-ho outfit — everybody thinks you are — and I don't know why you don't dress the part, as we used to say in show business."

He urged they wear the dress blues "Every place they appear in public."

The blue uniforms are not now issued except for special duty. According to Marine figures it would cost $42.19 to provide the blue blouse, trousers and hat for each of the 174,000 enlisted Marines. The 16,000 officers would have to spend $50 or so for uniforms out of their own pockets.

The Coast Guard's famed square-rigged training ship "Eagle" started out as the German "Horst Wessel". It was launched in 1936 at Hamburg, and transferred to the United States as a part of reparations after World War II.
